President in Flag Day Speech Urges Civilian Code for Usage of Old Glory

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

WASHINGTON, June 14.—A code for civilian usage of the American flag and for proper behavior in its presence was advocated by President Harding today in addressing the American Legion's flag conference which has in attendance delegates representing a number of organizations. The President also expressed a hope that the various organizations represented would insist "upon some suitable provision" to have every American learn to sing "The Star Spangled Banner," declaring that he "would like to have the spirit of America show itself in song."

A committee to formulate a code was appointed with instructions to report tomorrow when it is expected definite rules will be adopted for usage of the flag to supplement the varied codes being advocated by patriotic and other organizations.

"I have noted audiences singing—'I should say trying to sing,'" said the President, "the American national air, but outside, also, a good many are only numbers or pretending to sing. I would like to have the spirit of America show itself in song. I hope you will insist upon some suitable provision to that end in your code."

DUTY OF ALL

The President's address was followed by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who also advocated a more widespread respect for the flag.

"I can understand how the flag means considerably more to the service men of the republic than it does to the ordinary citizen," the President said, "but I cannot understand why the soldier or sailor or the service man in national defense owes any more to the flag than anybody else in the United States of America, and so everything we do to bring the flag into proper consideration by the citizens of the republic is entirely commendable and deserves to be cordially endorsed."

"I do not suppose there is any law to punish the President should he not stand at salute when the colors pass, but I would not be happy in my official capacity if I did not do it. I know I am not going to feel the same, however. I salute the colors in an unofficial capacity and I would like to say that every salutation makes my consecration a little more secure."

THING OF BEAUTY

"I have seen the flag raised abroad and I have wondered where I like it best. It is a beautiful picture in patriotic procession and in the military parades when it is unfurled over the American schoolhouse as a guarantee of the liberties and opportunities of a schooling of youth of America."

"It is a wonderful picture over American official quarters abroad and to Americans who have never seen something of home and to feel his attachment somewhat emphasized. It has been a beautiful picture as the emblem of brotherhood and sympathy when it has been unfurled from the flag of racial aborigines who have carried American bounties as an expression of our generosity to the suffering people of the world."

"But somehow, I have concluded recently that about the deepest glories of the flag shall not see it long while it is presented or carried by the old veterans of the Civil War. You know, had it not been for them there would not be forty-eight stars glittering in the field of blue. I like to say, therefore, that somehow the flag appeals to me more strongly when it is presented by those who made

The expedition set sail from Los Angeles October 8, 1926. The first crew was made up of college boys, most of whom took the trip home soon after they saw the South Sea Islanders were not so picturesque as had been painted.

After the crew consisted of natives for the most part. Edward Burghard, a Columbia University graduate; Merle C. Cooper, a former member of the United States service; George MacNeil of Taip, and Capt. Nelson Taylor of Salisbury. Cooper joined the expedition at Singapore.

Capt. Salisbury was born in California. He has been engaged in expeditions for many years.

Traffic Court Nets Big Profit for New York

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

NEW YORK, June 14.—New York's city traffic court, the first court in the world's history to be devoted entirely to the trying of street traffic law cases, is a paying proposition, perhaps the best paying of all courts.

On the seventh anniversary of its opening, today, Manhattan House, which has handled them since June 14, 1915, gave out figures on the work of the court.

It has collected in fees $2,390,626 and has heard 177,933 cases. There were 14,593 persons unable or unwilling to pay fines who have served jail sentences. There have been 1107 straight jail sentences imposed.

OLYMPIA (Wash.) June 14.—Gov. Hart today announced that he would appoint an unpaid commission from this State to collaborate with similar commissions from Idaho, Oregon and Montana, in the study of blue-sky legislation in reference to the mining industry.

No appointments have been made, but the commission will be decided at the request of Sidney Norman, Spokane, governor of the Washington branch of the American Mining Congress.

DIARY INTRODUCED IN MURDER TRIAL

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

OROVILLE, June 14.—Introduction and reading today of the diary of Mrs. Mae Murdoch for the period from 1916 to this year delayed Mrs. Murdoch's trial on a charge of murder in connection with the death of her husband in Biggs last March. Expected startling revelations were not forthcoming, the diary being that of a normal defense witness.

THREE VOLCANOES CONTINUING ACTIVE

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

NEW YORK, June 14.—Civil war in the United States during the years 1912-14 is prognosticated by Evangeline S. Adams, astrologer, who returned today on the steamer Homeric, after a two months' honeymoon in Europe. Miss Adams is the wife of George E. Jordan, Jr.

Though the stars indicate the future war there is no immediate cause to worry, she said, as "President Harding is a good and considerate man."

Miss Adams has predicted many events, among them being the 1967 panic, the Windsor Hotel fire, and the death of Caruso in his native land and the death of King Edward which came to pass. While abroad she read the horoscope of Stanley Baldwin, the new British Premier.

Delegates to Return Home to Explain Views

Conference Postponed Until Further Advices

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The British delegation to the International Cotton Conference held here earlier in the week informed officials of the Department of Agriculture today that the Liverpool Cotton Association would not act in the association's regard until the conference until its delegates had returned and explained their views. The meeting of the conference for June 14 has been postponed.

Government officials pointed out there had been no hint in the negotiations and they felt confident the agreement would be ratified.

After a conference today between the British delegates and government officials, the following statement was issued:

"With reference to the proposals of the Department of Agriculture and the American cotton trade in connection with the United States Cotton Standards Act which the European delegates recommended to their respective delegations and which the following telegram has been received from the Liverpool cotton association:

"Board of directors will recommend to the general meeting of members of the association to be held on Friday, June 14, 1932, owing to circumstances involved, decision be arrived at until delegates have returned."

"It has therefore been decided that these delegates shall immediately return to Europe and report on this subject before the members of their own exchanges."

"In view of this decision, the further conference which had already been called by the British delegation to the International Cotton Conference for Monday, June 19 is now postponed, but it is hoped within the next three weeks further information will be received from these exchanges and a definite decision reached in time for the conference to be held on Friday, June 26.

"Foster, A. C. Nickson, secretary of the Liverpool cotton association, has been retained in America in order that he may act in connection with any communication received from Europe on this subject."

PARIS, June 14.—The Bulgarian Legation in Paris tonight received conflicting reports of the situation in their home land.

First, from Foreign Minister Christo Caloff, former aide de camp of King Boris, stated that everything is calm everywhere, and reports to the contrary are untrue.

The second, signed by Alexander Stambolisky and sent by Vasil Radev, indicated that many peasants have been arrested in North Bulgaria.

Stambolisky is preparing an encircling movement to surround the capital and capture the Zankoff government.

Further reports to Quai d'Orsay indicate that the peasants are preparing to support Stambolisky in an attack on Sofia, laying a siege if necessary.

Honor Memory of Hamilton's Youngest Son

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

SACRAMENTO, June 14.—Solemn services were held today at the grave here of William S. Hamilton, youngest son of Alexander Hamilton, patriot of the Revolutionary War, by Daughters of the American Revolution, in commemoration of Flag Day.

The son of Hamilton died in Sacramento in 1859 after having been buried during the gold rush, when cholera spread among the settlers. His body was buried in a trench with many others, but the remains were later identified by his widow, who had been investigating, but the jury had heard nothing of how many failed to recognize the woman as Bula Croker.

Bula is asserted to have been the legal wife of Marone when she left America and shown to hundreds of people as being dead, but the jury had heard nothing of how many failed to recognize the woman as Bula Croker.

The attorney said that Richard Croker, Jr., and a director of the Trojan Film Company had found Mrs. MacDonald of Moncton, N. B., at Los Angeles, "the home of films." Mrs. MacDonald was one of the witnesses who identified Mrs. Croker in court as Mrs. Marone.

Attorney Lynch asserted that Bula had produced receipts given to a pupil at Muskogee, Okla., and the program of a recital given in that place, these documents covering the time she was said to have been with Marone at Northampton, Mass. Evidence from Muskogee witnesses also proved her presence there at the specified time, he said.

AUTHOR'S LEAGUE IS POOR PICKING FOR FILM PLAYS

plus the appreciation of those for whom the work is done.

However, the directing intelligence of the guides know how to cater to writer egoity. Everything is put upon a strictly alphabetical basis, thus throwing the blame for position back upon paternity; the A's come first for all the active ones next the B's, the boy bees, the C's for the caterpillar cocoons with their storage of buttery brilliance, and so on down through the insect kingdom.

The forty members of the council, the fifteen members of the executive committee, the fifty associate members who got in early at fifteen dollars a year and which is now a closed classification, the seventy-five life members who paid $100 and also belong to a sealed class and the 1750 common members of the actual society, all supply alphabeticalized on whatever printed matter calls for their august names.

Ructions and acrimonious disputes were skilfully walked around by the Authors' League as though it labored in unfathomable depths. For eleven years it has been so, ever since the league's incorporation in 1912.

Working always gently and softly the Authors' League has effected some order in the literature world, without which publishers and those who write. It claims to have stabilized the novel contract and the play contract, and established a minimum price for such works. Minimum prices usually solidify as high as possible, and the frowns upon plagiarizing and upholds the sanctity of the copyright.

Undoubtedly through its easy, soothing activities the average and the mediocre writer gets a better deal than formerly, and there are other economic advantages that the headliner members think they find in having their names printed on the stationary of the organization.

Then along came Past President Ross Ellington, the dynamic Michigan-born exploiter of the strenuous outdoors, and with dash he led the executive committee of the Authors' League to Poughkeepsie's Peak and showed them all the wondrously rich land of motion pictures from Gilgedad unto Dan Selah.

The motion-picture industry in the mass mind of the Authors' League and among most other people for that matter, spans an untold number of gurus. Doubtless if approached on the matter would scorn such a suggestion as to why the Authors' League got behind the International Congress of Authors this week in New York "to create a better understanding between writers and other factors in motion-picture production."

Nevertheless, Past President Beach was not only accepted as their Moses but unanimously voted to double as their Joshua to lead them forth from Moab against Jericho and into the Promised Land, Selah.

As for the Canaanites and the Hittites, the Canaanites and the Amorites of Finland they were simply to be captured by the Moabites.

"Come and take us," they pleaded, keeping their faces free of laughter. "We bow low before your great intelligence, Jericho is yours. Enter the land of Canaan."

Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., has not had such a triumph since President Harding was elected. You can hardly believe his next speech: "We are all working together now to meet the public demand for a higher standard of pictures, and correct faults at the source." Censorship in one swoop was lifted from the back of the producers, and has become the short responsibility of the Authors' League.

All this getting together of massed authors and bunched film magnates does not alter certain fundamentals in the making of books and the production of pictures. A good book in most cases makes a stupid picture. Only a few can be satisfactorily pictured although every author thinks his book is in that class. Some authors have actually changed their style to writing for the screen product available for the silver sheet and in doing so have ruined their tales for magazines or books.

A book is a story told by words in the dark. It attacks the mind of the reader. A book that must contain all the elements of an appeal: events happening in sequence, like the turning of the pages of an album. If a book has this constant action then that portion of make-up along with other details that stimulate might be whipped into a scenario.

"The Cheat," so great a success that it is being done over again, was written directly for the screen by Louis Untermeyer. "The Home and Broken" was done in the fashion by George Ade. "Over the Hill" was another studio product, the story of the poem having little to do with the story. "The Town That Forgot God," both sentimental stories, and "Nero" and "The Queen of Sheba," culled from his story.

Rupert Hughes, the novelist and the Mills brothers, Carl and William who were playwrights, have succeeded as scenario writers because they change their step, and adapted themselves to different methods. "Saturday Night," "Don't Change Your Wife," "Foolish Garden Fruit" were all panned for the screen and not for literature. Occasionally a plot can be suggested as was "Fool's Paradise" by the book known as "The Laurels and the Lady."

And further there is a distinct difference between a stage story and a screen story. Very few plays have the essentials of great pictures.

Then who are to be the great authors, the successful playwrights and the gripping scenario writers of the future? They are hardy in the Authors' League, in which are many writers who have shot their bolts and whose work has been appraised and rejected by the film experts. The rulers of tomorrow are among the unknowns out through the country who are fashioning themselves in new techniques, have open minds and who are yet to be discovered.

Widow of Slain Chicagoan Says Suspect Killed Her Husband

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, June 14.—Miss Bertha Schiller, 21 years of age, was identified today as the smiling girl bandit who shot and killed a man a week ago Tuesday night in a hold-up at the rear of his home at $255 Winthrop avenue.

Following the identification, which took place in the Tesmer home where the slain man's widow lives, Capt. John Naughton of the Austin police station sent for assistant State's Attorneys John Scarboro and Charles S. Wharton in an effort to wring a confession from the girl.

It was through Capt. Naughton's efforts that the girl was apprehended. She was picked up in Austin last night in company with a suspect girl and two young men. Her appearance exactly fits the description given of the smiling girl bandit.

LASKER SCORES BOARD CRITICS

Leviathan Test Trip Cost is Justifiable

Answers Democrat Committee Accusations

Tour Was Planned in Regime of Wilson

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Attacks by the Democratic National Committee on the proposed trial trip of the Leviathan by Chairman Lasker of the Shipping Board were answered tonight with a statement declaring that the big liner's voyage as now planned originated and was approved by the Shipping Board under John Barton Payne, when the Wilson administration was still in control.

This was the keynote of Mr. Lasker's reply to what he termed the "playing of party politics on a matter which should obviously be nonpartisan."

[EXPENSE JUSTIFIED]

He declared, furthermore, that the entire expense as estimated by the experts retained by Judge Payne and kept by the Shipping Board, which followed him under Mr. Lasker's chairmanship, would be $120,000, and that $107,000 of this would have had to be spent on a single item had been taken away from the government.

Mr. Lasker said that he considered an expenditure of $12,000 for breaking in the organization and service machinery of the vessel and obtaining the good will of men who were engaged in the ship's business, a small item compared to the $8,000,000 spent by the government in reconditioning the ship.

"I have refrained," said Mr. Lasker, "from answering what seemed to me an unkind criticism of the trial trip to be taken by the Leviathan next week, but I feel that the recent statement issued by the Democratic National Committee is such an unfortunate utterance that it should not go unchallenged."

[FORGET PATRIOTISM]

"It will be a matter of great regret to the American people, I am sure, that the facts are not known, to learn that part of our political committee has so far forgotten patriotism as to play party politics on a matter which should be obviously nonpartisan. What I feared would happen has happened. I fear one of those who participated in the shink subterfuge, I believed that it was the only way to insure a merchant marine in competition with the private shipping enterprises of foreign countries."

"I fear, also, that if we had government operation it would merely mean that our whole shipping problem would be continuously a football in party politics. The Democrats played their part in filibustering against ship subsidy, arguing that government operation was the solution to our merchant marine problem. Now, however, at the first opportunity, when we are launching what we aspire to make the greatest ship in the world, when indeed the heart of every American should beat proudly over the achievement of the incomparable Leviathan—we are confronted with the spectacle of a political committee picking flaws and endeavoring to gross misrepresentation to muddy the waters."

[PAYNE'S PLAN]

"What are the facts. It would appear that the statement of the Democratic National Committee that the trial trip of the Leviathan was suddenly conceived and that guests were invited purely as a private junket. If that were true, the critics would be fully justified, particularly in these days when, as we know, the public's money in government is the paramount need of America."

"The truth of the matter is that this very trial trip was fully provided for by experts engaged in December, 1921, by a Shipping Board headed by John Barton Payne, under the Democratic administration. If the critics had only taken the trouble to look up the records they would have found that the plans and specifications for the construction of the Leviathan were not hastily made, but that every detail, including the testing of the great ship in the proposed trial trip, was worked out long in advance, even to the last dollar that would be spent."

"The experts who prepared the plans and specifications for the reconditioning of the Leviathan and who still have sole charge of the work, were engaged by the board under John Barton Payne, in December, 1921."

JAPANESE PLAN RAIL PROGRAM

Extensive Electrification Part of Project

Additional Rolling Stock to be Ordered

New Schedule Calls for 530 Steam Locomotives

BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

[Copyright, 1928, Public Ledger.]

TOKIO, June 14.—The revised budget of the Imperial Government Railways for the purchase of additional rolling stock and equipment and the improvement of that now in service on the government lines permits a total expenditure of 193,149,400 yen between 1923 and 1925, and is one of the largest railway improvement projects undertaken at one time in Japan. The items providing for the electrification of the Tokaido line, between Tokyo and Kobe, which will be undertaken during this year represent one of the most extensive electrification projects ever put into effect anywhere.

The number of electric locomotives to be purchased is 40, at a total cost of 57,149,600 yen, the expenditure to be divided as follows:

Four million eight hundred and forty thousand yen in 1923, 8,484,000 yen in 1924, 8,128,000 yen in 1925, 12,453,000 yen in 1926, and 12,000 yen in 1928, the last year to which the present revised budget applies.

PROGRAM DELAYED

Electrification of this line has been delayed in recent years because the purchase of steam locomotives, which were required immediately, had in the past occupied so large a proportion of the permitted rolling-stock expenditures.

The revision of the present budget has just been completed primarily for the purpose of balancing these proportions, and resulted in reducing the appropriation for the purchase of steam locomotives to 27,835,000 yen. This amount is for 530 locomotives. This entire amount is to be expended by 1926.

Other items of additional equipment and repairs provided by the revised budget are as follows:

Gentlemen:
How is this for a nice little profit in your Goodyear Park tract?
Six months ago I purchased lot 568, paying down $210. A few days ago I sold it taking a profit of $200, practically 100% on my investment.
I am interested in several other lots in Goodyear Park, and know of no better way to make money on small capital investments than buying and reselling lots there
Sincerely yours

MIDDLE WEST NEWS IN BRIEF

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

KANSAS CITY, June 14.—The Automobile Club reported yesterday that roads leading into Kansas City were in very bad condition. The Kansas City, Fort Scott and Tulsa highway, between Fort Scott and here, was reported bad. As a result, hundreds of motorists on their way to Kansas City to trade are reported stalled in other towns along the route.

No danger of flood from the Missouri River is apprehended here with the river at 15.6 feet. The danger point is twenty-four feet. The Missouri River, which has risen 17.5 feet, was racing at Topeka, obviating possible danger here, unless heavy rains should fall. Flood stage of the Kaw is twenty-eight feet.

That Guy A. Moore was murdered by gangsters in the Bessie Bottoms and his body placed on the railroad tracks near the Milwaukee bridge was the theory advanced last night by the Chief of Detectives, who has been conducting an investigation into the death of the former grain man.

Nearly 10,000 box cars already have been stored in Kansas to move the summer wheat crop according to reports of railroad representatives at the box car conference at Topeka yesterday, conducted by the Public Utilities Commission.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 14.—Court action over the ownership of coal under the Wabash River, which has been before the courts, ended in a sweeping victory for the State of Indiana yesterday when representatives of coal companies in conference with the Conservation Commission agreed to the plan, which will result in payment to the State for all coal mined in the past and future. Litigation in the courts will be ended.

The public school population of Indianapolis will reach the 50,000 mark at the opening of school next fall, it was said at the office of the Indiana State Board of Education yesterday. An increase of 1000 pupils is expected. The number of pupils for schools in the city this year is 48,952.

Henry W. Howard, 85 years old, one of Boone county's pioneer citizens and a veteran of the Civil War, is dead at his home in Clintonville, formerly in Boone county, now east of Lebanon, following a few days' illness with heart disease.

ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, June 14.—Fourteen L.W.V. organizers and members were arrested at Sarcoxie, the heart of the Southwest side of the city, yesterday evening. The arrests were made in connection with a temporary injunction granted in District Court. The order restrains the Boulevard Transit Company from operating bus lines in competition with the Omaha and Council Bluffs Street Railways.

Rain, which has been general in North Nebraska and Southern South Dakota for about a week is continuing, making automobile roads impassable. Railroad tracks are becoming so soft that trains are about an hour late.

The heaviest rain of the season fell last night in Southwestern Nebraska and the Platte and Missouri Rivers were rising threateningly yesterday. The heaviest rains of the season also were reported by agents at Alma, Red Cloud and through the whole Republican River Valley.

HORSE RACING TO COME BACK

Local Jockey Club to Give Autumn Meetings

Culver City Track Provides High-Class Sport

Popular Price of Admission Will be Observed

Angelenos are to have classic racing events staged at their doors for less than half the price New Yorkers have to pay to see the same horses in action. This has been announced by the Southern California Jockey Club, which has set the price of general admission to its grounds and grandstand at Culver City at the popular price of $1.50.

It costs the racing devotee just $2.50 for similar privileges at Belmont Park and other famous courses about the Eastern metropolis, so California will be the only kings and queens of the turf in action at a price which indicates the new track will be thronged for the opening meet. The low admission charge also means that the annual classics to be featured here will draw a veritable army of race enthusiasts from all over the Pacific Coast.

POPULAR PRICE

Dick Ferris, well-known sportsman who has been active in forming the Southern California Jockey Club and arranging for its grounds, is enthusiastic over the announcement that admission will be at a popular price.

"This means that the Culver City track will be for the masses as well as the classes," says Ferris. "An admission of $1.50 to the grounds and grandstand will mean that all Californians who are fond of seeing blooded horses in speed contests will have the opportunity to attend some of the best racing meets ever held in this country."

The Southern California Jockey Club has arranged to have some of America's best known race horses entered in the events to be staged each season at the Culver City track, which is being made one of the best racing courses in the country. It is better patterned after some of the most famous tracks of the East and nothing will be left undone to make it a mecca for turf classics. There will be annual events that will take rank with the Derby at Churchill Downs and the Preakness at Pimlico.

PENNSYLVANIA TO HAVE COMMISSION

HARRISBURG (Pa.) June 14.— Gov. Pinchot today signed a bill creating a State Athletic Commission to regulate boxing and wrestling. The new law permits ten-round bouts to a decision, to be made by two judges and a referee if the judges disagree.

ASHMORE IN BOUT WITH SALVADORE

Young Carpenter to Take on Jimmy Butler at Hollywood Legion Arena

Sailor Ashmore, holder of the California lightweight title, is scheduled to battle in the main event at the American Legion Hollywood arena tonight. Tonight's engagement marks the third between the pair. Salvadore won the first bout, lost the second. Phil has been training hard for the affair and claims that he will pry the gob loose from the champion tonight. The challenger supports his contention by pointing to his victory over Joe Benjamin last winter. Salvadore further states that Ashmore's decision over him was in reality a "shuck" one by reason of his loss in the first bout. The sailor had no confidence of retaining his crown, but has trained faithfully for a tough fight.

Young Carpenter, the hero of last week's show, is lined up with Jimmy Butler, a Florida 145-pounder. Butler appeared twice at the Hollywood arena about a year ago, and was twice returned the winner. Carpenter, who hails from Connecticut, made his debut last week in the semi-wind-up against Willie O'Brien, whom he stopped to the first round. Later the Stockton lightweight fought a draw in the wind-up with Willie Rooney.

Joe Medina, victor of many bouts in the local ring, will square off with Ad Rabboux at 124 pounds in the special event. But Manning, who won questionable decision over Frenchman De Miret, will rematch by Matchcock at 126 pounds.

Ted Merry battles Connie Hogan at 138 pounds, and Connie Dias will hook up with Johnny Martin at 116 pounds. The bouts will be referred by George Blaize.

TILDEN PICKS JAPAN TO WIN

American Davis Cup Team to Meet Nipponese

England in Last Place for Challengers

Fukuda and Shimizu Sure to Reach Finals

BY WILLIAM T. TILDEN,
World's Champion Tennis Player,
1920-21
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHILADELPHIA, June 14.—There is no doubt but that I have proved myself a rotten prophet. By the time this article is published France or Japan, or maybe both, may have beaten the Davis Cup tennis ties. That is the penalty of doing work that must be done in advance. But even at that, I am compelled to write an analysis of the final round of the Davis Cup matches between France (or Spain) and Japan (or Australia) and they will be played at Boston Aug. 16, 17 and 18.

COCHET VS. SHIMIZU

Brilliance and aggressiveness vs. steadiness and subtlety. Ordinarily I would say that punch and power will beat mere pat-hall every time, but in this case Shimizu is more than a pat-hall artist. There is no man who can get the ball back more times per point than Shimizu. At the same time, he has the ability to give it, end a point, provided you give him an opportunity.

This match between Cochet and Shimizu (it comes off) should be one of the most interesting matches of the year. I believe Shimizu will win. I look to see the match run four or five sets, for Cochet is too great a player to be brushed aside in less. However, it seems to me that Shimizu has "the shade" too much in tennis for Cochet to beat. Shimizu delights in a net man's attack, passing him or lobbing over his head with remarkable regularity. On the other hand, Cochet is not steady enough from the ground to swap drives with Shimizu in the back court.

Here is a really new angle in international tennis, a possible meeting of two absolutely new personalities, La Coste and Fukuda. Again it will be French temperance. Fukuda is the real thing, I hear that La Coste is like the little girl with the curl, "when he's good he's very, very good, but when he's bad—oh boy! Fukuda may not reach the flights of La Coste's very, very good."

Shimizu will win, I look to see the young Frenchman beat Borotra.

Whitehall, and the Americans, will be watching him that he is capable of fine tennis and that he plays it a great majority of the time. Borotra's game I know, and I believe that Fukuda would beat him consistently.

Then, it seems to me that Japan has decided edge in the singles for the return matches. Shimizu would certainly beat Borotra or La Coste, while Fukuda would have an outside chance to beat Cochet, although I think the young Frenchman should win. Therefore, even though Cochet and La Coste (or Borotra) won the doubles from Kasabu and Shimizu I still believe that Japan would win three matches to two and become the 1923 challengers of the United States.

I believe that my prophetic sight has played me false and that Australia should defeat Japan, then Anderson's and Hawkes' names may be written in place of Shimizu and Fukuda and Australia would be the challenger, although I believe that France would have a better chance to win against them than against Japan. England, with Lyett and Kingscote, could upset all the dope and become a serious contender for the role of challenger, but with only one of her two stars, I cannot see England figuring. Spain, if she beats France, will not advance with Gomas and Planer, but if she reaches the Japanese (or Australian) teams then Manuel and Jose Alonso could play here in America. If that should occur I would almost favor Spain as the challenger, for Manuel Alonso is the greatest player in the Davis Cup, thus far. He has defeated Shimizu several times in the past and never lost to him. I see no reason why he should do so this year. However, I do not expect to see Spain reach America. My choice of challengers follows:

First, Japan.
Second, Australia.
Third, France.
Fourth, Spain.
Fifth, England

May Break World Records in National Affair

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, June 14.—First rank collegiate performers from every quarter of America will assemble Friday at Stagg Field, University of Chicago, for the country's intercollegiate championship in the track and field meet of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, composed of 208 schools and colleges.

The track and field competition is expected to bring to the American Olympic team for 1924.

More than 480 individual entries representing sixty-two institutions from twenty-seven States are on the program.

Valley of Wisconsin, who took the Big Ten in 1921-22; Allen

Hefner, Penn State star and winner of the eastern collegiate titles in 1920-21; and Gardner of Nebraska, who was fourth in the Missouri meet in 1920-21, will take off together in the 200-yard run.

THIRTY-FIVE HURDLERS

Charley Brokaw, Iowa's representative in the 220 hurdles, holds the world record for that event,

21.5 made in the Big Ten meet a fortnight ago, in which he tore down a mark of a quarter century. Pennsylvania in 1922. Thirty-five rivals will contest the barriers with the brilliant Hawks.

Minnesota has the largest entry in the field, with thirty-six.

Iowa is only one less; Ohio, thirty-

Wisconsin, twenty-seven; Pennasylvania, twenty-two; Penn State,

England, and Stanford, ten.

Nebraska's team is virtually the same as that which captured the Missouri Valley meet at Ames in May for the third successive year. The Missouri team is the best in the country.

Arthur Havers, who took the 100 yards in 1921-22,

will be the 100-yarder.

He has done the 120-yard high timbers in 1921-22 seconds and the 220 los in 24-10 seconds.

William Black, another Stan-fordite, comes with a record of one hundred and six pole

vaults in the dual meet.

At the eastern games this year

Norris tied with Owen of Pennasylvania at 12 feet 9 inches for first place. R. E. "Dink" Temperton, who won the Stanford entries, predicted new national marks for his charges.

QUALIFYING PRELIMINARIES TODAY

Qualifying preliminaries will be held tomorrow. In the quarters and half-mile runs. Heats will be held the same afternoon in the hurdles,

100-yard dash and the furlong.

There will be no qualifying competition in the field events. Tomorrow's program begins at 3 p.m. central time.

The University of Kansas participants include Carry Rogers, the Missouri Valley record holder in the pole vault, and team-mates,

Poor, high jump winner from the Drake relays.

Norman Anderson, who has put the shot 46 1/2 feet and Otto Anselon, Marquette, men's high jumper, and

Franklin, who did not advance with

Gomas and Planer, but if she reached the Japanese (or Australian) teams then Manuel and Jose

Alonso could play here in America.

If that should occur I would almost favor Spain as the challenger.

Make it Three in a Row from Marty Krug's Battered and Homesick Cherubs

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH
SALT LAKE, June 14.—The Bees made it three in a row, taking the third of the series with Los Angeles today by a score of 11 to 3. They opened the run getting with three in the first inning. Lewis knocked his first hit by Jenkins, Crumpler and Vitt gave the Bees their fourth in the second.

Both teams stayed on the gas to the end, however, and the two runs lead to a tie. Lyons shot one past the pitcher's nose for a hit, McCabe walked. McNeely followed the catcher with two more, scoring two runs. Two more popped out, one went to center, scoring two runs. And Mooley and hits by Lewis brought in three more.

With three in their favor, the Bees had a one-run lead, adding what they got in the same through winners.

BROOKLYN HANDICAP IS ON FOR TOMORROW
BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE
NEW YORK, June 14.—The Brooklyn handicap, one of the oldest classics of the Metropolitan section racing, will be contested tomorrow as the opening day feature at Aqueduct by a small but select field. Included: Harry Payne Whitney's, and his Chickwick with Martingale, Little Chief Knobbie, Hephaestus, Overtake and Excuse completing the field.

The event, inaugurated in 1887 at Gravesend, renewed at Belmont in 1913, and run since at Aqueduct, is over one mile and an eighth, course for 3-year-olds and upward.

PROBLEMS OF FAR EAST ARE GROWING IN SCOPE

Basing of British Fleet at Singapore Reveals Empire's View of Situation's Gravity

How directly the United States is affected by Great Britain's radical change in her naval policy in connection with Singapore is explained in a series of articles by a British expert on Far Eastern affairs who has just returned to London after a tour of Japan, China, Korea and other countries. The Public Ledger and The Times is publishing the article simultaneously with the London Morning Post, the first of them today. The writer explains the situation in China and Japan and pictures what the people of those countries are thinking about and outlines the reasons for England's spending $10,000,000 on the Singapore base when that added expenditure can scarcely be afforded by Great Britain.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1923, Public Ledger.]

LONDON, June 14.—Within the last two months two events have occurred which should serve to focus the thoughts of the British Empire on the Far East.

The first is the publicly expressed determination of the administration to convert Singapore into a naval base suitable for maintaining British prestige and protecting British trade in Pacific waters, a determination which has met with a strong opposition from those who look no further than Europe and imagine that the natural aerial measures of another great war must now be directed toward her late comrade in arms.

The second event, which probably attracted little attention, is the delivery of an address by Prof. Hishinuma to the Japanese section in London entitled "Main Features of the Japanese Problem," in which he stated that unless some of the Western nations realized their mistake attitude toward the Eastern nations, the struggle between the East and the West will prove the salvation of humanity in the most disastrous war which the world has ever seen. The address doubtless by coincidence followed closely on the public pronouncement of the Singapore development scheme and it is appropriate to have appropriate to endeavor to visualize the "main features of the Japanese and other Pacific problems" from an English and American point of view.

POPULATION JUMPS

The population of the main Japanese islands has been steadily increasing in an astonishing degree and at present there are about 100 million to the square mile, although only some sixteen percent of the land is available for habitation and cultivation. The same problem of population has at various times in history presented itself to England, Germany and other great nations. The Japanese, from the similarity of their geographical situation, have closely studied England's remedy for overpopulation and are beginning to feel aggrieved that they have no opportunity to take care of their would-be emigrants. The time appears to be not far distant when it will be impossible for the average adult male Japanese to find work or wages within his own islands. The present conditions and his area, therefore, are constantly scanning the surrounding countries of the world in search for an outlet.

Korea as a sphere for the settlement of surplus population is a fair, negligible asset. Korea's main value to Japan is a strategic

NOTAS LOCALES
Se Crea que el Asesinato de Bradley Sea Producto de la Guerra de "Bootleggers"

La primera discrepancia en la confesión de Charles W. Clepper, que convino ayer tarde en que se vió forzado la noche del último domingo a matar a Frank J. Bradley en su propia casa, produjo ayer a Gótima hora, cuando se averiguó que había dado su residencia falsas que no existen. Descubriéronse asimismo que alguien había ido al número 1323 de la calle Septima, en la tercera de los balcones, herido muerto de la lucha que se desató con la muerte de Bradley.

Manifestó la policía que no habían determinado aún la identidad de las personas que pretendían haber hecho desaparecer las prendas de la boda: pero declaró que Clepper había confesado que era ésta la dirección que de su casa se daba, sin haber consultado el informe con su defensor.

Los hechos relacionados con el misterioso homicidio son en parte los siguientes: El jueves en la mañana temprano, un individuo dijo ser C. W. Dickson, de Fresno, se pasó en su cupo auto móvil frené a la Estación Central de Policía, y anunció que traía en su coche a un hombre mal herido. Esto fue conducido a la Casa de Scorro, donde pudo comprobarse que el hombre era en efecto un estadounidense norteamericano. Tendría 25 años, y evidentemente había fallecido bien rato antes de que Dickson llegara a la Inspección de Policía. Al notificársele a este último que el hombre estaba muerto, se rehusó dar información alguna, hubo de hallar el nombre de la víctima en tarjetas y cartas que llevaba en las bolsas. Dickson mantuvo su silencio hasta la confesión de Clepper, ayer tarde, que dice que llegó la tarde del miércoles a la casa de Dickson, Calle Sétima Oeste, 1323, en contra allí al propio Dickson, a Luther Shearer y a un individuo llamado Cunio. Poco segundos después se presentó Bradley, que, dice Clepper, se acercó a él en otro cuarto, y al ver a éste, le dio de haber golpeado a un amigo. Afirma Clepper que, seguidamente, Bradley le atacó con un cuchillo de cincelero, y estuvo a punto de apuñalarlo, motivo por el que se vio obligado a subir sobre su revólver y hacer fuego sobre su agresor. Le vació todos los cartuchos de su automática calibre .38, y Bradley se desplomó.

NOTAS LOCALES
Se Crea que el Asesinato de Bradley Sea Producto de la Guerra de "Bootleggers"

La primera discrepancia en la confesión de Charles W. Clepper, que convino ayer tarde en que se vió forzado la noche del último domingo a matar a Frank J. Bradley en su propia casa, produjo ayer a Gótima hora, cuando se averiguó que había dado su residencia falsas que no existen. Descubriéronse asimismo que alguien había ido al número 1323 de la calle Septima, en la tercera de los balcones, herido muerto de la lucha que se desató con la muerte de Bradley.

Manifestó la policía que no habían determinado aún la identidad de las personas que pretendían haber desaparecido las prendas de la boda: pero declaró que Clepper había confesado que era ésta la dirección que de su casa se daba, sin haber consultado el informe con su defensor.

Los hechos relacionados con el misterioso homicidio son en parte los siguientes: El jueves en la mañana temprano, un individuo dijo ser C. W. Dickson, de Fresno, se pasó en su cupo auto móvil frené a la Estación Central de Policía, y anunció que traía en su coche a un hombre mal herido. Esto fue conducido a la Casa de Scorro, donde pudo comprobarse que el hombre era en efecto un estadounidense norteamericano. Tendría 25 años, y evidentemente había fallecido bien rato antes de que Dickson llegara a la Inspección de Policía. Al notificársele a este último que el hombre estaba muerto, se rehusó dar información alguna, hubo de hallar el nombre de la víctima en tarjetas y cartas que llevaba en las bolsas. Dickson mantuvo su silencio hasta la confesión de Clepper, ayer tarde, que dice que llegó la tarde del miércoles a la casa de Dickson, Calle Sétima Oeste, 1323, en contra allí al propio Dickson, a Luther Shearer y a un individuo llamado Cunio. Poco segundos después se presentó Bradley, que, dice Clepper, se acercó a él en otro cuarto, y al ver a éste, le dio de haber golpeado a un amigo. HARDING TO ACT IN MINNESOTA*Administration Agrees to Back Nominees*Senatorial Committee Also to Take Part*Plan is Announced After Conference*[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The administration and the Republican Senatorial campaign organization will take an active part in the Minnesota political situation and stand ready to give all assistance within their power to bring about the election of a Republican to succeed the late Senator Knute Nelson.

Announcement to this effect was made today following a long conference at the White House between President Harding, Senator Moses, Republican New Hampshire, chairman of the National Senatorial Campaign Committee; Senator Pepper, Republican Pennsylvania, and Senator Wadsworth, Republican, New York, members of the committee.

WILL BACK CHOICE

Neither the committee nor the administration will seek to influence the action of the voters in Minnesota, which is to be held next Monday, but as soon as the Republican nominee is definitely chosen they will back him to the limit to help him win the election which is to take place in July.

President Harding will add a letter to the Minnesota voters urging them to support the Republican nominee and it is likely that during his Western trip he will have remarks to make from time to time bearing on the Minnesota situation. Arrangements are being made to have speeches thoroughly distributed through the State by mail and radio.

Senator Moses is expected to go to Minnesota immediately after the primary and offer the services of the Senatorial committee to the State organization. He is making arrangements to send many speakers of national prominence into the State to stump in behalf of the Republican nominee.

TO TAKE PRECAUTIONS

While expressing confidence of Republican success, members of the Senatorial campaign committee are not deceiving themselves as to the strength of the Nonpartisan League, or Farmer-Labor party, which was strong enough last fall to defeat Senator Kellogg and put up its own candidate, Henrik Shipstead. They want to take every precaution politically possible to prevent the development of the same kind of a situation which brought about Senator Kellogg's defeat, as they recognize that the Republican organization in the State will need all the help it can get nationally.

Moreover, they are fully aware of the fact that another Republican defeat would seriously injure the party's prestige in the North-western states and impetus to a third party movement with a Presidential campaign close at hand. Still another consideration weighing heavily is the fact that a Republican reverse would cut the party's majority in the Senate to eight, giving the La Follette radicals a firm grip on the balance of power.

The committee is understood to have furnished the President with information as to the political situation in other States, which he will visit on his western trip.

The ABYSMAL BRUTE

SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS INSTALLMENTS

Fat Glendon, a 225-pound gloriator who had been 22 years living in the ring, is summoned to San Francisco, a promoter of bare-knuckle boxing, to fight the champion of the world. Stubener, the referee, the owner of the arena, and the promoter of the fight pleaded with Glendon to go on with the fight. When he refused, the referee declared that he would award the fight in favor of Cannam if Glendon did not fight. "You can't do it," the latter retorted. "I'll sue you in all the courts if you try that on, and I'll sue the name of the ring, too." Glendon, a quiet, unassuming, interview Fat and gives the latter his first suggestion that the ring is not the place for him. "I'm not fit for the ring," he said. "I'm not fit for the next fight with a doctor at the hospital." The next day Glendon goes to the mountains home. Some weeks later Fat returns to the ring with a doctor at the hospital. "I'm fit now," he says. "I've got the right of fight with you, tell the fans of fighting conditions."

THE CROWD WAS FEELING GOOD

When Cannam and Glendon made their ring entrances, the arena resembled a national political convention. Each was cheered for a solid five minutes. The ring was now cleared. Glendon sat in his corner, surrounded by his seconds. As usual, Stubener was at his side, and the interviewee was seated and after he had scraped and ducked his head he was compelled to respond to the cries for a speech. He stammered and halted, but managed to grind out several ideas.

"I am proud to be here tonight," he said, and found space to capture another thought while the applause was thundering. "I've fought square; I've fought square all my life. Nobody can deny that. And I'm going to do it best tonight."

The crowd let out a loud cheer of "Tom! Tom!" "We know that!" "Good boy, Tom!" "You're the boy to fetch the bacon home!"

Then came Glendon's turn. From him, likewise, a speech was demanded, though he had been given a chance to speak. It was an unprecedented thing in the prize ring. Billy Morgan held up his hand for silence, and in a clear, powerful voice Glendon began.

"Everyone has told you they were glad to see me here tonight," he said. "I am not." The audience was startled, and he paused long enough to let it sink home. "I am proud of my company. You want a speech? I'll give you a speech. I'll speak my mind. After tonight I leave the ring for good. Why? I have already told you. I don't like my company. The prize ring is so crooked that no man engaged in it can hide behind corners. It is rotten to the core. It is rotten to the core from the little professional clubs right up to this affair to-night."

The low rumble of astonishment that had been rising at this point burst into a roar. Voices were loud and hoarse, and many were crying. "Go on with the fight!" "We want the fight!" "Why don't you fight?" Glendon, waiting, noted that the principal disturbers near the ring were promoters and fighters and friends of the valid who did strive to make himself heard.

The audience was divided, half crying out "Fight!" and the other half, "Speech! Speech!"

Glendon walked to the ropes and spoke to the police captain. He was compelled to hold over and shout in his ear.

"If I don't give this speech," he said, "this crowd will wreck the place. I'll speak now, you know that. Now you've got to help. You keep the ring clear and I'll silence the crowd."

He went back to the center of the ring and again held up his hands.

"You want that speech?" he shouted in a tremendous voice. Hundreds near the ring heard him and cried "Yes."

"Then let every man who wants to hear me up the noise-maker to him."

The advice was taken, so that when he repeated it his voice penetrated farther. Again and again he shouted it, and slowly, zone by zone, the silent spectators moved from the ring, accompanied by a muffled undertone of smacks and thuds and scuffles as the obstreperous were subdued by their neighbors.

Almost had all confusion been removed when the first row of seats near the ring went down. This was greeted with fresh rounds of laughter, which of itself died away, so that a lone voice, far back, was heard distinctly as it piped: "Go on, Glendon. We're with you."

Glendon had the Celt's intuitive knowledge of the psychology of the crowd. He knew that what had been a vast disorderly mob five minutes before was now tight in hand, and had added effect to deliberate defiance. Yet the delay was just long enough and not a second too long. For thirty seconds the silence was complete, and the effect produced was one of awe and respect, just as the first faint hints of restlessness came to his ears, he began to speak.

"When I finish this speech," he said, "I am going to fight. I promise you that it will be a real fight, one of the few real fights you have ever seen. I am going to fight the man in the shortest possible time. Billy Morgan, in making his final announcement, will tell you that it is to be a forty-five-round contest. Let me tell you that it will be a forty-five-round contest."

"When I was interrupted I was telling you that the ring was rotten. It is—from top to bottom. It is run on business principles, and you all know what business principles are. Enough said. You play O.K. course, you say. What's the fight all about? Graft! Graft! And now let me ask you: if the men who build the seats graft, if the stewards graft, why shouldn't those higher up in the fight game graft? They do. And you say—"

"And let me tell you it is not the fault of the fighters. They don't run the game. The promoters and managers run it. They're the business men. The fighters are nothing. They begin honest enough, but the managers and promoters make them give in or kick them out. There have been straight fighters. And there are now a few, but they don't earn much at rule. I guess there have been straight fighters. I have heard about the best of the bolling. But just ask him how much he's got salted down in real estate and apartment-houses."

Here the roar began to drown him.

"Let every man who wants to hear shut up the man alongside of him!" Glendon instructed.

Again, like the murmur of a surf, there was a rustling of smacks and thuds and scuffles, and the noise died down.

"Why does every fighter work overtime insisting that he's always fought square? Why are they called Honest Johns and Honest Bills and Honest Blacksmiths, and all the rest? Don't you ever hear you that there seem to be afraid of something? When a man comes to you shouting he is honest, you get suspicious. But when a prize fighter passes the same dope out to you, you swallow it down."

"May the best man win!" How often have you heard Billy Mor-

- Holland Edam, Gouda and Sap Sago. —Italian Parmesan.
- Limburger.

Bombay Duck

- Bombay Duck or Bummaloo Fish from Calcutta, India—unique for adding an oriental dash to curries.

can say that! Let me tell you that the best man doesn't win so often, and when he does it's usually arranged for him. Most of the grudge fights you've heard of or seen were arranged, too. It's a program. Do you think the promoters and managers are in it for their health? They're not. They're in it for business men.

"Tom Dick and Harry are three fighters. Dick is the best man. In two fights he could prove it. But what happens? Tom ticks Dick. Dick ticks Harry. Nothing comes between them. Tom ticks Dick. Dick ticks Harry. Nothing proved. Then they try again. Dick is kicking. Says he wants to get along in the game. So Dick ticks Tom, and Dick ticks Harry. Eight rights to the back of the best man who could have done it. All arranged. A regular program. And you pay for it, and when your seats don't break down you get robbed of them by the stewards.

"It's a good game, too. If there ever is a square fight, they would have a chance. But the graft is too big. When a handful of men can divide up three-quarters of a million dollars on three nights!"

A wild outbreak compelled him to stop. Out of the madcap of cries all over the house he could distinguish such as "What million dollars?" "What three fights?" "Tell us!" "Go on!" Likewise there were boos and hisses and cries of "Muckraker! Muckraker!"

"Do you want to hear?" Glendon shouted. "Then keep order!"

Once more he compelled the importunate half-madness of silence.

"What is Jim Hanford planning? What is the program his crowd and mine are framing up? They know I've got him. I can whip him in one fight. But he's the champion of the world. To do that he must win the first fight. It will be pulled off in Nevada if San Francisco won't stand for it. We are to make it a good fight. To do that we will pull off a side bet of twenty thousand. It will be real money, but it won't be a real bet. Each gets his own slipped back to him. The same way with the purse. We'll divide it evenly through the public division will be thirty-five and sixty-five. The purse, the moving-picture royalties, the advertisements and all the rest of the drags won't be a cent less than two hundred and fifty thousand. We'll divide it and go to work on the return match. Hanford will win that, and we'll divide again. Then comes the third fight: I win as I have every right to, and when he does it's usually arranged for him. Most of the fighting public. That's the program, but the money is dirty. And that's why I am quitting the ring tonight."

It was at this moment that Jim Hanford, kicking a clinging policeman back among the seat-holders, heaved his huge frame through the ropes, bellowing: "They're business men."

"It's a lie!"

PROSPECTORS TELL OF RIVER BATTLE

ENGINE OF LAUNCH GOES DEAD IN RAPIDS; TWO KILLED

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE

HAILESBURY (Ont.) June 14.

The story of a fight of fourteen prospectors and two boatmen against the tumbling Sturgeon Rapids on the northern stretches of the Ottawa River—a fight in which two men lost their lives reached here today.

The party was rushing in the speedboat Swallow toward the newly discovered gold field of Northern Quebec. The engine went dead within a few hundred feet of the rapids. Immediately the prospectors sprang into their trading canoe and paddling furiously, attempted to tow the launch near enough to shore to permit a line being snubbed around a tree. But the waters were strong and the strength of the miners waned.

Then the tow lines were dropped. The canoes made shore but their margin of safety was measured in inches. The motor boat was caught in the swirling waters. Then a crash as it struck a rock and foundered. Seven who remained aboard were hurled into the seething rapids.

The three in the boat, facing death, still thought of their comrades a step nearer the great beyond. Overboard went ropes—four of them. One man clung to the gunwale. W. Howie was pulled aboard, two other men, Lawton and Dalton perished and the engineer of the launch, swept through the rapids, was washed ashore unconscious but alive.

The man still remaining in the launch reached shore safely after the Swallow, passing through the falls, sank in shallow water.

SHIP LIQUOR BAR ORDER RECEIVED*All Merchant Vessels Hit by RegulationsWar Craft, Foreign Officials Exempt, HoweverDetails of Law Explained in Full to Schwaebe*

Regulations of the United States Treasury, under decision of the United States Supreme Court, that the National Prohibition Act extends to all merchant vessels within the territorial waters of the United States were received by Collector Schwaebe yesterday.

The act does not apply to foreign vessels or war. Neither does it apply to foreign vessels which are forced into port by stress of weather. No seizure of liquor can be made from diplomatic officers accredited by a foreign government or the government of the United States, nor from such officers who are temporarily in this country or persons attached to or employed by a diplomatic mission.

MERCHANT VESSELS HIT
No merchant vessel, domestic or foreign, may carry as cargo within territorial waters of this country liquor for use as a beverage. Liquor for nonbeverage purposes may be transported under permit.

Liquors found by customs officers on board vessels in violation of law shall be seized, a receipt given the owner and the name of such owner shall be listed, segregated and labeled for identification and stored for disposal according to law. When both the prohibition and the customs laws appear to have been violated, officers shall first proceed under the customs laws.

If a foreign vessel left a foreign port before June 10, 1923, for an American port having liquor on board for beverage purposes such liquor shall not be seized while kept under customs seal in American territorial waters.

AIR CRAFT INCLUDED

No merchant vessel may carry either as cargo or sea-stores liquor for beverage use within the territorial waters of this country. And the word vessel is taken to include every description of watercraft capable of being used as a means of transportation on or in water, or through the air.

In accordance with the law of nations, war vessels of foreign nations, or vessels which within territorial waters of the United States are to be regarded as exempt from the operations of United States prohibition laws.

Long Sentence Given Youth for Attack on Girl

Claude Gray was found guilty of assault for an asserted attack on Dolly Spies and was sentenced to six months in City Jail by police Judge Frederickson yesterday. W. F. Burke, H. L. Jackson and Ray Hines, also arrested in the case, were acquitted and discharged.

The girl asserted the men took her from a local dance hall to a room where she said they attacked her. In court it was testified she had a fight with Gray after the others had gone.

The case was transferred to Police Court when the District Attorney's office refused to issue a complaint.

Widow's Suit to Break Mate's Will Dismissed

The suit of Mrs. Maggie Terhune, widow of Dr. J. Terhune of Alhambra, to break the will of her husband was dismissed yesterday by Judge Perry Wood of the Superior Court after he had taken the case from the jury on a technicality.

The will involves an estate of $162,000. It bequeaths the greater portion of the estate to David T. Terhune, a nephew of the deceased. The widow succeeded in having the bank account held by her husband and his real estate is left to a grand niece, Miss Gertrude Glaspie.

Judge Wood dismissed the case when it was pointed out that the wife could not sue him who prevented either the widow or the grand niece from instituting suit to have it set aside.

REALTY BOARD PLANS HOLLYWOOD DIVISIONPROPOSED NEW BRANCH TO ENJOY ALL PRIVILEGES OF MOTHER BODY

The governing committee of the Los Angeles Realty Board was at work on a proposed amendment to the constitution whereby Hollywood real estate operators, by George A. Coffin, Hollywood business man and member of the governing committee, Mr. Coffin's statements were corroborated in a short talk by Tom Ingerson, secretary of the Los Angeles organization.

According to plans for the new division, members of that organization will enjoy the same privileges as the Los Angeles board and will be allowed to use the name "realtor." They also will receive the backing of the State and national boards.

Plans for dinners luncheons and mass meetings are being formulated by Mr. Coffin and W. Y. Taft, also a Hollywood real estate man and member of the governing committee of the Los Angeles organization.

A paid secretary will be provided in the new division under the plan, while the chairman of the Hollywood organization will be a member of the governing committee of the mother board.

INCREASE IN INCOME TAX IS GROWING*Collector Announces Local Addition of 68 Per Cent Over Last Year*

Collector Goodsell announced yesterday that income-tax receipts from June 1 to June 13, inclusive, were $2,303,548.42, compared with $1,275,969.25 for the same period last year, an increase of 68 per cent. Revenue officials state that undoubtedly this gain leads all revenue districts in the United States.

The total amount of income tax collected in this district for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1922, was $38,442,712.86. Although the new Revenue Act reduced the income tax in the local district to the extent of $7,000,000 annually, Collector Goodsell estimates that the receipts for the fiscal year that ends June 30, next, will equal and possibly exceed the receipts for 1922.

The time limit for the payment of the second instalment of income tax due from 40,000 taxpayers in the Los Angeles district, expires tonight and those who fail to have their remittances in the office by midnight will be subject to a fine, plus interest and penalties. Under the law the entire tax, plus interest and penalties, will automatically become due and distraint warrants directed against all delinquents will be issued.

Admiral Rodman to Direct Survey of Alaska Coast

Reconnaissance of the Alaskan coast and tributary island groups and a thorough survey of all possible harbors and inlets will be carried out this summer by the Navy Department under the direction of Vice-Admiral E. Rodman, Admiral Rodman, who was formerly commander-in-chief of the United States Battle Fleet here, was yesterday ordered to duty in Alaska as chief of the expedition, according to orders received at the local naval base.

His present post as commandant of the Fifth Naval District and Naval Operating Base at Hampton Roads will be taken over by Rear-Admiral Welles, for the past two years commanding of the Eleventh.

The opening of operations on the Alaskan expedition was made from Los Angeles Harbor three weeks ago when the U.S.S. Cuyama and U.S.S. Cardinal left for Arctic waters under command of Rear-Admiral Rodman. For the purpose of mapping the coastline and laying out future bases to serve the entire Battle Fleet, a force of naval aviators, giant torpedo planes, topographical experts and soundmen will be taken along.

The Cardinal was last week lost off Unalaska when she went on the rocks in a fog and her sister ship, the minesweeper Tern, will today leave this port to replace her in survey operations.

Large Tax Due From Heirs of Otto F. Brant

An inheritance tax of $85,100 will be collected by the State from the heirs of Otto F. Brant, Los Angeles capitalist, according to a report filed yesterday in the office of Contrary, R. L. Riley. The sum, which is in excess of $1,500,000, is bequeathed to the widow, Susie E. T. Brant, who resides at 3131 South Figueroa street. Mrs. Brant stated in the will that provision through a trust fund established in 1912, two years before she had been made for the six sons and daughters of the household.

The death of the millionaire occurred in March of last year in a Fresno courtroom. He was a pioneer of Los Angeles, having died in the city 36 years ago.

His business interests were extensive both within and beyond the boundaries of the State. At the time of death he was vice-president and general manager of the Title Insurance and Trust Company, of which he was one of the incorporators.

Vice Stalkers Call Halt in Scandal Hunt

A full in the counter battery work of charges of police inefficiency and criminal protection in Los Angeles was apparent yesterday, when no individual or group identified with the affair earlier in the week, took any action.

The grand jury did not assemble, therefore delaying the projected investigation. The Mayor is still awaiting his secret service fund to become available July 1, before beginning his own investigation.

The two ministers called on Mayor Cross to remove Charles Oak last Monday have contended themselves with asking an investigation of various criminal conditions.

Charles Oak is continuing his eastern trip, conferring with thousands of police heads at Buffalo, and advertising Los Angeles.

"TIMES" CARRIERS TO MAKE MERRY*Seaside Convention Promises Much in Way of Fun*

Venice Amusement Pier Where Newsboys Will Frolic

THE Times' annual carriers' convention, which will be held at Venice tomorrow, promises to be one of the largest gatherings of young men ever held in Southern California.

From one end of the city to the other letters are pouring into The Times requesting reservations, forcing the committee to the limit arranging for transportation, picnic dinners and entertainment on the pier.

Through the courtesy of the Abbot Kinney Company the rides and shows on the famous pier have thrown open their doors and the day promises to be one of real joy for several hundred live-wire boys who get out of bed in the wee small hours to see that your paper is where it belongs and that it is on time.

The youngsters who are responsible for service on the world's largest newspaper will gather at The Times Building, 4th and Broadway at 9:30 a.m., where dozens of machines will be ready to transact business.

The reception committee of leading Venice business men will greet the boys upon their arrival and the keys to the amusement city by the sea will be turned over to them.

Joy will be the order of the day and the boy who fails to wear the smile that won't come off will be voted the "World's Gloom Pessimist."

CAGE GIRL IS SOUGHT BY POLICE

Kidnaped and Attacked by Nine Mexicans Last Winter, Child Again Missing

Police yesterday took up the search for Clara Fern Cage, 14 years of age, of 1152 Poinsettia Place, Hollywood, whose continued absence from home after a temporary disappearance on the 6th inst. when she was sent on an errand to a drug store a block away on Santa Monica Boulevard, has caused the parents much concern.

Judicial department officers disclosed their vigilance yesterday in an effort to locate the girl and the parents in their report to police fear a repetition of the affair of last December when the girl was kidnapped and attacked by nine Mexicans, most of whom are now serving sentences in San Quentin prison.

No clue as to the probable whereabouts of the girl was available late yesterday and the parents were not at home. The father was reported to be a sailor and the mother was away, apparently on some mission of her own in an effort to locate her daughter.

In the previous case the girl was left alone at home and becoming lonely she borrowed money to attend a show downtown in the Mexican section, where she was induced to accompany him to the Vernon Icehouse. On the way, she said, he attacked her and at the icehouse eight of his friends also attacked her and then turned her over to Mrs. Ambrosia Vega, in whose home she was kept prisoner for almost a week. They sent her to San Bernardino where she was discovered and returned to Los Angeles in a serious condition.

The death of the millionaire occurred in March of last year in a Fresno courtroom. He was a pioneer of Los Angeles, having died in the city 36 years ago.

His business interests were extensive both within and beyond the boundaries of the State. At the time of death he was vice-president and general manager of the Title Insurance and Trust Company, of which he was one of the incorporators.

MARKET REVIEW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 14.—Prices on both the stock exchange and other markets continued in general to go low today. On the stock market there was much occasional uncertainty, but the trend was downward, even the railroad shares lost ground. The net losses of 1 to 2 points in the industrials were fairly numerous with the closing prices generally near the lowest of the day. In other words, the drift of the market was the same as it has been throughout the week.

One incident of the day was the showing by the Federal Reserve that the cash reserve to note and deposit institutions had reached the highest record for the year, the week's 1.1 to per cent increase of the ratio being a direct result of the $25,500,000 addition to the system's gold. This deposit of gold appears to be indicating a further increase in the week's $18,200,000 increase in reserve credits held by member banks, while rediscounts were reduced $27,000,000. The downward trend of prices and speculation in this face of this maximum surplus reserve is not without interesting commentary on the recent widespread contention that existence of such a fund of unused credit necessarily presumed inflationary markets.

With continued tendency to weakness in European exchange rates the German mark fell today to 9 to 10 ten thousandths, at which price the dollar commanded 105.100 marks, comparing with 102.500 at the mark's low price of the day before. The Reichsbank took in $4,740,000,000, or 100 marks increase in the German per currency during the first week of June. This is not quite so bad as the previous week's $77,000,000 increase, but it measures the sufficiently vigorous expansion of the money supply in the markets and shows the paper circulation to have nearly doubled in ten weeks.

Reports that flush production in the Southern California oil fields shows signs of having reached its peak failed to stem the liquidation of oil shares, which suffered the heaviest losses. California Petroleum's new stock dropped 10 points, the old stock having been stricken from the list. Prices oil preferred jumped 6 points on announcement flicting price movements characterizing the desultory trading in today's stock market, most of the active issues displaying a heavy tone throughout the session. With little or no public buying and operators for the advance showing no disposition to move their favorite high-priced stocks, speculators for the decline had little difficulty in depressing prices in nearly all sections of the list.

Another flock of new records for the year was established during the day. United States Steel touched a new bottom at 94% and again advanced to 95% on the day of its 1 point on the day. Other stocks to sell at new low prices for the year were Sinclair, Cosden, Pacific and Texas oils, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Phillips Petroleum, Martin's preferred, Kelly-Morgan, Gulf Bunker, Shell, New Motor, Willys-Overland, Wilson Packing, Consolidated Textile and Ohio Body, the net losses averaging around a point.

Railroad shares offered better resistance to selling pressure than the metals. Fail to attract public following in the early series of favorable dividend announcements, however, caused some liquidation by tired holders of long stocks. New York Central forfeited 1% points of its 4 points gain and 1% points of its 2 points gain, and some of the other high-priced shares also lost ground.

Railroads that flushed production in the Southern California oil fields shows signs of having reached its peak failed to stem the liquidation of oil shares, which suffered the heaviest losses. California Petroleum's new stock dropped 10 points, the old stock having been stricken from the list. Prices oil preferred jumped 6 points on announcement of a Virginia court decision in the preferred stockholders' favor.

Declaration of a quarterly dividend of 75 cents on the new Underwood Typewriter stock marked the realization of another of Wall street's dividend hopes. The old stock's dividend quarterly before it was split up was four to the basis, the new rate being equivalent to $2 quarterly on the old.

Activity and recent strength of Wall motors are based on the expectation that directors will raise the regular dividend rate from $2 to $3 and declare an extra cash dividend of 25 cents at their next meeting June 19.

Call money opened at 4% per cent but advanced to 5 before the close of business. Money is quiet with plenty of money available for the shorter maturities at 2 to 3 and bankers asking 5 for the longer dates.

Foreign exchange trading was quiet with few important changes in rates. Demand sterling held around $4.61 and French francs around 8.35 cents. German marks touched a new low at .0009 1-8 cent.

Day's total sales 701,200 shares.

METAL MARKETS

PRODUCE MARKET
IN SAN FRANCISCO

(By A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
SAN FRANCISCO, June 14.—Poultry market says: "Oil producers endeavor to place more weight on mills which are sold more than 100,000 bushels per month. The price of hams is considerably in the West, where prices are high and no longer a marked feature of the market." The market is very active at Custerville where more events are taking place than usual. The market is uncertain. Trade is good at San Francisco. Copper is 15% to 15% higher at $1.00 per pound; tin, 15% to 15% higher at $1.00 to 10c, and zinc at 25c to 10c.

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

The coffers of the city of Long Beach are $20,000 richer as the result of receipt by the City Treasurer yesterday of checks totaling that amount, representing payment of oil royalties to the city by various gas and oil companies operating on municipally owned lands in the Signal Hill field. Of the total the Southern Counties Gas Company paid the city $3,445.88 as the city's share of the proceeds from gas obtained by the city from lease in May. A total of 264,949,000 cubic feet of gas were taken from the two wells on this lease in the preceding month.

A check from the Standard Oil Company for $11,141.40 as payment on oil taken from the Ramona lease in city-owned property made up the total. The lease produced 46,582 barrels in May.

Film Men in Oil

An announcement was made yesterday that Aubrey M. Kennedy and William Sherrill, well known in the motion-picture industry, have come to Los Angeles to represent picture people in the Allied Motion Picture Oil Syndicate, No. 1, which is drilling a well in the Loveland pool at Signal Hill. Laurence A. Lambert is general manager of the organization. His own company is drilling several other wells in the Long Beach field.

The Mining and Oil Bulletin, official publication of the Chamber of Mines and Oil, has issued in its ninth number a supplement five feet long, which is a panoramic photographic reproduction of the Long Beach oil field. It shows all the producing wells in the field, and indicates them by number, with an explanatory key map. Oil men regard it as the most pretentious thing of the sort ever attempted.

Plan Oil Exposition

Virtually all the oil companies operating on Signal Hill will be represented at the Oil and Land Exposition to be conducted in Long Beach from June 14 to 18, it was announced at the Long Beach Oil Exchange yesterday.

One of the features of the exposition will be a series of exhibits to be entered by the University of California. The original plan shows the newest improvements in equipment and methods connected with oil production. Arrangements just concluded will bring Prof. Charles Brown and twelve assistants to the Goddard District.

OUSTED TEACHER BACK

Sierra Madre Principal Seen Flaw in Dismissal

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE
SIEIRRA MADRE, June 14.—The Sierra Madre school board has not complied with the State school law in the procedure of dismissal of teachers. It was learned today that both E. H. Reynolds, principal, and Miss Clara Talbert, teacher, had been automatically re-elected to serve another year at the local grammar school.

According to Principal Reynolds the law requires that two notices of dismissal be sent to the teacher and that he be given a public hearing to air the causes of the dismissal. This was not done. The board has not fully complied with the provisions of the dismissal law; both teachers who have been asked to leave may now regain their positions.

The board has already employed a full quota of teachers for the next school terms and now has two extra teachers. This will necessitate some change in the next year's program.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
FRENCH LICK (Ind.) June 14.—The French of New York is discovering through the medium of leading middle-western Democratic leaders, that no man can be considered as Presidential timber who depends upon his witness alone. The best they can offer Smith would be a place as running mate with some Democrats damp enough to satisfy the party, but not moist enough to alienate the support of the drys, of whom there are thousands in the Democratic ranks.

It is said the solid South will not be sold for Democracy if the standard bearer is an avowed advocate of unrestricted production of liquor, and the leaders admit although not for publication, that there would be extreme danger of losing at least five of the Southern States if the issue is for and against liquor.

Police Say Bradley Took Part in Bell Shooting

Witness Says Body Kept for Two Hours

Bootleg War Believed Back of Man's Death

Frank J. Bradley, killed late Wednesday night in what the police believe to be an underworld feud, was one of the men implicated in the slaying on March 26 last of Robert Bell, 124 East Avenue 54, in a street brawl on South Spring street, according to Detectives Lieutenant Smith and Jarvis J. D. Smith, chauffeur, and Dominic Marzo, Second and Spring streets early in the morning of March 26. Revolvers were drawn and in the fusillade that followed Bell, a passenger in a street car and having no part in the fight, was killed. A single bullet pierced the curtain on the street car and struck Bell who died almost instantly. Detectives searched unsuccessfully for Bradley by his name, they say, was linked with those.

The night watchman of the Walnut Exchange, who has just been indicted for the killing of the eighth consecutive man he has slain, is also president of the Los Angeles Flower Exchange and a prominent leader in both the flower and walnut growing interests. He is the man of the business organization, as outlined in a report of the investigation, which has just been filed in the case of the walnut grower against the man who has been accused of the killing of the eighth consecutive man he has slain.

The first discrepancy in Clepper's confession was eliminated yesterday afternoon that he had been forced to kill Bradley, came late yesterday when it was ascertained that he had given as his residence an address which does not exist.

It was further discovered that someone had gone to 1232 West Seventh street, the scene of the shooting, and cleared away all evidence of the struggle which ended in the death of Bradley. A witness also told officers who declared the body was not taken away until hours after the shooting.

Police stated they had not yet determined the identity of the person or persons who had done away with the evidence of the struggle, but that decision Clepper admitted he had given a fictitious address and would not give the correct one until he had consulted with his attorney.

SMILES AT CONFESSION

Clepper's confession to the murderer was made in the office of Captain of Detectives Home. Accompanied by his attorney, ex-Police Officer White, the man walked amicably into the police station and a few minutes later admitted he had killed Bradley.

It was a dramatic climax to a mysterious murder. Early Thursday morning a man who stated he was a citizen of France drove up to Central Police Station in a coupe automobile and announced he had a man badly wounded in his car. The man was taken to Receiving Hospital, where he was pronounced dead. He had been shot seven times and had evidently been dead for some time before Dickson arrived at the police station.

Upon being notified that the man was dead, Dickson refused to give any information, and it was only from cards and letters in the pockets of the dead man that the police learned the reason for the action.

Commissioner De Coo denied that he and his wife have been reconciled. When asked for a statement on the nature of the settlement he explained that the settlement had not yet been reached, but that an agreement for a substantial settlement for Mrs. De Coo has been favorably accepted by both camps. He said that the provisions of the settlement would not be completed for a few days and added after a conference between attorney for himself and for Mrs. De Coo.

The De Coo community property is valued in excess of $100,000, chiefly in stock in several lumber companies. Mrs. De Coo is reported to be seeking an equal share.

HELD ON DRUG CHARGE

E. Reed of 615 South Central avenue, charged with having $60 worth of narcotics in his possession, was arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriffs Conly and Bell and Inspector Peoples of the State Board of Pharmacy. He was placed in the City Jail.

INJURED IN COLLISION

Mix-up in Orders Given as Cause of Crash on Pacific Electric Lines

A mix-up in train orders resulted in the slight injury of several passengers and four trainmen last night when a work train collided head-on with the Orange Empire special of the Pacific Electric at Elsinora, midway between San Bernardino and Upland.

Crews on both trains jumped to the ground after locking the brakes to escape severe injuries. Both trains were badly damaged, although they were going at a rate of little more than five miles an hour when they collided, according to reports received by Pacific Electric officials in Los Angeles.

The injured trainmen are C. E. Shield and E. E. Stayton, conductor and assistant conductor of the work train, and G. D. Jermide, conductor, and W. J. Hodges, motorman, both working on the Orange Empire. None of the passengers was injured to such an extent as to require aid, it was said.

The work train was endeavoring to make a siding at Muscat to allow the Orange Empire to pass when the accident happened. According to the report received by the dispatcher. Both trains were making high speed when the motormen saw the danger, locked the brakes and jumped. The accident occurred on the single track of the line.

Father Identifies Beggar as Assailant of Girl Who Died After Attack

A beggar who approached A. B. Winn yesterday in a garage with a pitiful plea for a few pennies to buy food was identified as the man who September 27, 1921, is asserted to have brutally attacked Winn's daughter, the late Mildred Winn, in an apartment house at 736 South Flower street, according to Captain of Detectives Lieutenant Winn, an uncle who declared the body was not taken away until hours after the shooting.

Police stated they had not yet determined the identity of the person or persons who had done away with the evidence of the struggle, but that decision Clepper admitted he had given a fictitious address and would not give the correct one until he had consulted with his attorney.

SEPARATE MAINTENANCE ACTION OF COMMISSIONER'S WIFE IS SETTLED

The separate maintenance suit of Mrs. Lydia De Coo against Charles Abner De Coo, Los Angeles Police Commissioner and wealthy lumberman, was taken off the court calendar yesterday when it was called for trial in Judge Doran's court. A settlement out of court between Mr. and Mrs. De Coo was given as the reason for the action.

Commissioner De Coo denied that he and his wife have been reconciled. When asked for a statement on the nature of the settlement he explained that the settlement had not yet been reached, but that an agreement for a substantial settlement for Mrs. De Coo has been favorably accepted by both camps. He said that the provisions of the settlement would not be completed for a few days and added after a conference between attorney for himself and for Mrs. De Coo.

WOMAN FOUND UNCONSCIOUS IN CRITICAL STATE

Miss A. R. Davidson, 2236 Ewing street, Edendale, who was found unconscious by police Sunday in the yard of her home and who two days later awoke with a loss of memory, was reported in a critical condition at the Los Angeles General Hospital yesterday as a pneumonia complication set in.

Hospital physicians are puzzled over the cause of the woman's fainting. Emergency Hospital doctors to revive her Sunday were without avail and she was transferred to the General Hospital. Tuesday she regained consciousness but her mind was blank.

The woman was found lying in the yard of her home early Sunday morning. She probably had been there all night and the attack of pneumonia followed the exposure of doctors said.

HONOR PAID GARLAND

Prominent Angelinos Give Tribute to Bringing 1932 Olympiad to This City

A long man experienced a tribute as grateful as that May Garland last night at the Uplifters' Home for his feat of bringing the 1932 Olympic Games to Los Angeles. For hundreds of people, 100 each from the Uplifters, Los Angeles Athletic Club and the Community Center gathered under the stately sycamores that form an inspiring background and offered glowing praises to the man who performed what was thought impossible—bringing the games to Los Angeles.

Presenting Nation's Colors to StudentsTHOUSANDS HONOR FLAG

Stirring Appeal to Uphold Best Traditions of Old Glory Voiced by Capt. Hobson

"Proof that God and nature are standing by our flag lies in the fact that the Stars and Stripes have always been victorious, and I do not doubt that the reason we are thus defended by Almighty God is because America has never drawn the sword except in defense of the right. All honor, to those who have fought and died for Old Glory and to those who now live and work for the principles for which that emblem stands. All shame to those who would stab law and liberty to death and drag our blessed banner in the dust!"

Honors Accorded Youths Long before the program opened at 3 p.m., hundreds of men, women and children had gathered around the platform arranged for the occasion. The flag was in evidence everywhere. Red, white and blue bunting were placed along the benches by children who, impatient for the program to start, gathered in little groups to watch the warplane display.

Following the invocation by Dr. Carl S. Patton, pastor of the First Congregational Church, the audience rendered the National Anthem to the accompaniment of the Hollywood High School, P.T.A. and the Franklin High School bands. As a series of song rose and fell, fifteen airplanes from the battle fleet of the navy aircraft squadron flew by, in flocks of five.

The display of airplane tactics was under the command of Capt. A. W. Marshall, U.S.N.

FOUR BURNED IN OIL WELL FIRE

Blaze at Santa Fe Field Due to Pipe Break

Derrick Lost Before Flames Are Put Out

Loss is Placed at $150,000; One May Die

The bursting of a pipe containing oil at 300 pounds pressure while welders were using acetylene torches on the casing of an oil well being drilled at Santa Fe Springs, caused a fire yesterday which burned one man so seriously that he is almost certain to die. Two others were seriously burned and one less seriously. The derrick was destroyed and damage that may total $150,000 was done.

The accident was at well #6-B of the General Petroleum Company on the Santa Fe lease. The drillers were using a process known as rotating in oil at 4400 feet depth, while welders were attempting to straighten the casing at the mouth of the well.

OIL PIPE BREAKS

When the oil pipe burst the fluid caught fire at once from the torches and the sudden flare of flame, with almost the force of an explosion, blew new holes of varying size of Walnut Park from the platform to the ground his oil-soaked clothing afire from head to foot.

W. H. Clark of 4501 San Pedro street, Los Angeles, and E. L. Morris of Ocean, working with Herrigan, also were covered with the blazing oil, but not thrown from the platform. They managed to get away and extinguish the flames. J. C. Cooper of Long Beach was also severely burned, though probably not severe burns.

The oil continued to flow from the burst pipe, as it was several moments before it could be shut off, causing a fire that enveloped the derrick and spread to other nearby structures. Reserve men and volunteers fought the fire with sand and managed to confine it to the original well.

MEN ARE TREATED

The burned men were treated at the Santa Fe Springs Emergency Hospital Herrigan and Clark were transferred to California Hospital, Los Angeles, Thornto Whittier Medical Hospital and Cooper to Seaside Hospital, Long Beach.

It had not been determined last night whether the well would be a total loss. It would have been in production within a week. It is in the heart of the production field, one block from Telegraph Road near the Four Corners.

A HOME INSTITUTION
Although there are students at the University of Southern California from forty States and ten different countries, there are still more than 4000 of its army of pupils from the city and county of Los Angeles. It is the home brewery for most of those who drink from the Pierian spring.

ORGANICALLY SPEAKING
One of the new cook books, in telling how to prepare a chicken for the table, naively declares that it is important that the heart, lungs and kidneys of the bird should be removed at once. To remove the lungs and kidneys of some of our Barred Rocks is a painful operation and some of them resent it bitterly. Then they do lose their hearts.

COST OF LIVING
One year ago what was the full dollar of 1913 would buy 68 cents' worth of average merchandise. Now the buying power of that dollar has further shrunk to 63 cents. In other words, the cost of living is really almost 5 per cent more than it was last year and this in spite of the fact that many prices have been reduced. Hogs, for instance, are only bringing $4.75 at the Chicago stockyards, which is less than has been known for twelve years. But we are not living altogether on pork and when we do we buy chops that are selling at about 40 cents a pound. That is why living is high.

CRIMINAL CARELESSNESS
The forest-fire season sets in early this year. Six conflagrations are already raging fiercely in Los Angeles county. A dry winter prepared the fuel, carelessness applies the torch and huge acreages of the public domain are turned into charred and blackened wastes. In such a season as this there is no way to alter the dryness of the tinder. But there are ways, drastic ways, of dealing with the carelessness that turns this dryness to such destructive ends. The criminal hand that drops the lighted match or cigarette stub menaces the most valuable of all Southern California's possessions, the water supply.

GIVE US A SONG
In connection with some sort of a silver jubilee the city of New York is in need of a song. Therefore, a prize of $1000 is offered for the words and music of a song that shall best represent the spirit of the old town. They have had "The Bowery" and "The Sidewalks of New York," but they want one that will hit both East Side and West Side. The skyline and Wall street have never yet inspired the ballad-mongers. There is material aplenty for the song-builders and it is not likely that the advertised void will long be empty. Within a few weeks New York will have a ballad that Mayor Ryan can warble for the entertainment of every arrival.

EINSTEIN'S THEORY FILMED
Out of the millions who have heard of the Einstein theory of relativity there were—up till a week ago—but twelve besides Einstein himself who had the faintest idea what it was all about. But, thanks to the motion-picture industry, the long reign of darkness is over. Henceforth relativity will be as easy as a fox trot or a flirter. That elusive theory has been imprisoned in a screen story so that now its meaning is simple to the most unscientific of human beings. Indeed, the more unscientific he is the more readily will he grasp the Einstein theory visualized in a four-reel shocker. Audiences are said to come away from the theater muttering desperately—"It is true—heaven help us—light is bent!"

A GREAT SYSTEM
There has been a legislative inquiry concerning an alleged starvation farm in Illinois. It was conducted as a sanatorium where sunlight and fresh air were the medicines used. It was found that the absence of a diet was the big card. Apparently, they were close rivals in a hunger strike. They were rather thin and weak, but they said they had never felt better in their lives and they didn't want any goggle-eyed investigators bothering around. It was their own business. If they wanted to pay money for the privilege of going without food it was their private concern. Also there were two women at the sanatorium who had respectively fasted for nineteen and sixteen days and who said they were just beginning to enjoy health. They were just resting on cots in the open sunlight and doing without food. Did anybody have the right to interfere? The doctor in charge is at practically no expense. He gets his sunshine and ozone for nothing and he furnishes no food. The patients pay him $25 a week and are happy and free of pain. Why worry?

FICTION IN HISTORY
Some of the sticklers for literalism are stirring up quite a to-do at the international congress of motion-picture producers over the filming of historical novels. They complain that uneducated and half-educated persons accept these productions as actually true and so fill their minds with a mass of inaccuracies.

One irate French educational expert characterized historical novelties and picture producers as "impudent mongrels."

There might be some grounds for these criticisms if history in the past had been written with the devotion to the facts and the careful editing of the modern newspaper story. But the conglomeration of myths and prejudices and propaganda and imaginings and heroics and sentimentalities and distortions, from which the student of today must glean what little accurate knowledge he can of the ancient history of the race, far outranks any hectic coloring that the novelist or playwright can add to it.

Did not Shakespeare blacken the fair fame of Joan of Arc with all the power of his famous pen and libel in the interest of the Tudors the character of King Richard III? No "impudent mongrel" ever so distorted history as did the world's greatest playwright. But what we accept as history today—which the motion-picture producer is accused of profaning—is largely composed of the spindly inaccuracies of our immortal poets and romanticists.

No novelist or scenario writer could put more fiction into history than the historians themselves have already put there. With the passage of time the event fades, but the poetry and romance that clothed it rose more vivid. By and by all the world knows of the fact is from the myths that have survived.

Prescott was the most painstaking and careful historian that ever wrote with an unprejudiced mind from ascertained data.

KEEPING ABREAST OF EVENTS
Los Angeles and virtually all of the Southwest for that matter, has grown so rapidly in population and scope of activity that even its own citizens are behind the times. They see the evidences of growth and prosperity. They have even participated in activities that make for progress. They have had a part in building up the community, yet they are losing opportunities by overlooking important developments all around them.

One of the striking features of the Chamber of Commerce Industrial Exposition held in the Union Terminal Building about two years ago was the astonishment displayed by citizens of Los Angeles and other Southwest communities. Visitors to that exposition discovered that there are industries here of which they had never heard. Their eyes opened in amazement when they saw the evidences of big industries which they had never even remotely connected with Los Angeles.

Visitors to that exposition were like unto the great majority of Southwest people. They had faith in the destiny of the Southwest. They believed all that had been said about the peculiar advantages for industrial development. They were convinced by the figures denoting growth and they accepted the predictions of still greater growth. Yet they had failed to comprehend the situation and they had failed to act upon their own beliefs by incorporating the new conditions into everyday business procedure.

Merchants throughout the Southwest may buy from the East because they formerly bought eastern products unaware that the same goods are produced here a little better. The average consumer buys from the retailer without giving thought to the source of production. There is more involved than the economic loss of transportation. There is a direct advantage in buying the products of the Southwest because they are made under better conditions, with a better understanding of the needs of the people of this community. It is undoubtedly true that in general the merchant or the consumer gets better values from Southwest producers than from any others. There is also the incentive of aiding the healthy growth and success of the whole community by building up its own industries.

If all those who believe that the Southwest has superior manufacturing facilities, that it possesses advantages in working conditions, in cheap power, abundance of water and propitious climate and that the communities of the Southwest have fundamental interlocking interests will act on such beliefs in a consistent, businesslike manner a new impetus will be given to all the community by building up its own industries.

The people of Los Angeles are continually preaching a gospel of superior industrial opportunity. They wish to impress upon manufacturers that this is the best place to build manufacturing plants and they know that what they tell the manufacturer is true. Yet when a manufacturer comes and builds his plant here most of the people do not even know he is here and many others take no interest in the marketing of his products. Those who take the trouble to investigate usually learn that they can save money and get better values by dealing with the local industry in addition to stimulating the general industrial situation in which all citizens are materially interested.

Habits and customs change slowly, it is true. It is natural to cling to the old order of things. Particularly is it difficult to realize how the Southwest has grown and waxed strong. Only a few years ago money to finance big enterprises had to come from the East. Now municipalities throughout the Southwest should look to Los Angeles first instead of to the East. An indication of the failure of the people to take advantage of their own resources is the fact that, while eastern capital is sought to finance western enterprises, western capital is going East.

The Southwest is a mighty empire in itself. Its strength and capacity are no less great because the community is comparatively new and its development only recently accomplished. Cooperation in trade should be on a par with the interlocking of interest. A better understanding of what is going on in the business world just around the corner would be helpful.

Citizens of slowly moving communities might be excused for failing to comprehend the rapidity of action here in the Southwest, but it must be remembered that the people who live here are responsible for the swift development. It is not too much to expect of them, therefore, that they keep abreast of conditions which they themselves have helped to create.

FIRE AND FLOOD
Recent floods in Kansas and Oklahoma again draw attention to the ever-recurring damage and loss inflicted by that most useful and most unstable of all elements—water. And the pity of it is that, to a great extent, this loss is preventable, could by concerted action be removed from the debit to the credit side of the ledger.

Fire and water between them are responsible for a heavier list of disasters to the human race than all the other forces of nature; they are at once our two most docile servants and our two most tyrannical masters.

Mankind has done so much to control and utilize the powers stored in the rushing stream and the rolling river that there is no adequate reason, in these days of superb engineering and masterly mechanics, for leaving the work incomplete. At least you can quote Diogenes in the original, but you'll need his lantern when you begin searching solutions to our hitherto unanswered posers.

They gave you all the formulas for sound and light, but they probably neglected to teach you that trade secrets travel faster than a swift lightning.

You've studied the philosophy of the grim stoic; we'll give you plenty of opportunity to practice most of it.

You unraveled the meshes of Plato and Aristotle and maybe you jockeyed your way through Virgil and Cicero, but that was kindergarten maneuvering alongside of some of the knots we'll require you to untie. The Gordian kinks can't hold a candle to many of the ropes you'll have to get onto. You'll need to cut out ponies and ride horse sense if you intend to finish a neck ahead.

You've wrestled with four and maybe more unknowns but if you can discover the one or two causes of our loss or strayed trade you can name your own recompense.

They filled you plumb-full of quadratic equations but they probably forgot to mention that we don't care a tinker's dam for situations other than the personal. At college you not be up with 60 per cent, or Grade D; but we expect and we'll exact no less than 100 per cent, or Grade A.

We realize you've enjoyed superior advantages and that you probably forgot to mention that we don't care a tinker's dam for situations other than the personal.

We'll take nothing for granted; you'll have to start in the ranks with the rest.

And if you make good it will be because you've outstripped competitors who for four years were handling up-to-date issues while you were man-handling out-of-date tongues; who have taken knocks and kicks and kicked back while you were being codded and taught; whose minds are as ferocious as their bodies are as strong, whose blood is as good and as pure as your own.

The iron in them has turned to steel; every man jack of them is obsessed with the passion to climb, and they'll pace you and they'll race you to the finish.

Every mountain-side denuded of its foliage by avoidable fires—and how many of our forest fires are not man-made?—adds to the fury of the successive streams that fill the rivers that overflow the lowlands. And those flood waters could be made to perform so many useful tasks—and that worse; wasted fire could have served so many useful purposes—did not man ally himself through his own carelessness with the powers of destruction.

Nature possesses some untamable forces before whose onslaught man is impotent.

The tornado, the cyclone, the earthquake, the desert sun, the polar frost, the stroke of the lightning he can never control, never direct, never commercialize. Before these manifestations of the power of God he stands helpless—they pass the limits of his little reign.

But damage from all these causes combined is small compared to the havoc and ruin wrought by fire, and water—two elements the control of which the Creator placed within the intelligence of mankind.

Of all the rivers of the earth there is only one—the Amazon—apparently beyond the engineering skill of men to direct or govern. Fire can get beyond human control only through man's own carelessness or malice.

PUNISHMENT

A New Jersey youth has been socially ostracized because he went to his junior "prom" with a flask of hard stuff on his hip. That's the system! And yet they call New Jersey a wet spot.

RUSH PLANS FOR VIADUCTS

Tentative Sketches of Ninth Street Bridge Presented to Board of Public Works

City Engineer Griffin is rushing the engineering plans for the six viaducts to be built jointly by the city, county, railroads and roads over the Los Angeles River, following the authorizing by the voters at the July 5 city election of bonds amounting to $2,000,000 to pay the $10,000,000 improvements.

The viaducts will be built at Macay, Aliso, First, Fourth, Seventh and Ninth streets, and will replace the present inadequate, wornout bridges, as well as eliminate grade crossings at these points.

While tentative sketches already have been presented to the Board of Public Works for the Ninth-street viaduct, detailed plans must be prepared for that and the other five bridges, and an examination of the plans for a bridge such as the North Broadway structure—shows the great volume of work which must be done before actual construction work can be started. The cost of the engineering planning work for the six viaducts, if estimated, will be about $200,000.

The City Council yesterday au-and this makes the construction problem complicated.

The Ninth-street viaduct, as well as the others, will be built of reinforced concrete and will be seventy feet in width. The plan for the Ninth-street viaduct shows three arches with long approaches from each side. Six piers must be built, on which the viaduct will rest. The Ninth-street bridge will carry no railroad tracks and will have a roadway of fifty-six feet and two feet, eight inches, on each side, and the remaining two feet of the total will be occupied by one-foot balustrades on each side.

The city's share of the cost of the Ninth-street viaduct will be about $200,000 of total cost of $1,000,000.

OLD-TIME SKIPPER IS NEW PORT PILOT

Los Angeles Harbor's seventh port pilot assumed his new duties yesterday. He is Capt. Fred Warner, noted Pacific skipper, who in 1914 was the first to sail the liner Saint Croix when she burned and sank off Point Dume. Capt. Warner is remembered in local shipping circles as having later commanded the coast liners George W. Fenwick and Alaska.

FIGHT ENTRY OF ALIENS

Steamship Companies Fined and Ordered to Haul Passengers Back Until Quota Reopens

Immigration Inspector Burnett is moving actively against steamship companies that are at intervals bringing in aliens from Mexican and other ports, where such aliens involve countries whose emigration quota has been exhausted under the law.

The new quota will be available on July 1. In numerous instances within the past few days fines of $200 have been assessed on the ships landing the aliens at the local port, and in addition they are compelled to return them from the port from whence they originally sailed.

Under the new law, aliens from foreign countries who are now in evidence in droves below the Mexican line and who expect to be able to get into the United States July 1, must show that they have been here since July 1, 1924. To prevent the entry of aliens who have lived in Mexico for the last two years. To prevent the use of ready-made affidavits by friends on this side from assisting the aliens. Lists of such aliens will also be interpreted by Dr. Hecht.

THE LAST WORD. BY ALMA WHITAKER

The Weaker Vessel

Gov. Richardson said he was "no sob-sister." What he really meant was that he was no "sob-brother." His remark was in connection with the granting of free pardons to criminals. And it followed his opinion that some men were so weak and sentimental that even if they had voted for conviction on a jury, they would sign a petition for pardon afterwards. "Men"—you note.

Of course, that term "sob-sister" is just a hangover from old traditions. The stories today are written by men. When sister has to write 'em, she does it with her tongue in her cheek and her funny bone itching. Especially if they are about lady to mother.

And that is why, in spite of these protective privileges, they are slipping back again, losing their grip on things, whining a bit, apologetically, flattering and fawning upon the ladies in politics, explaining, accusing, blaming.

Theoretically, of course, women are the clinging vine. But in war time, especially during the last war time, "the very most important thing was knowing when it's time to cling." So for five years we kind of lost the habit, we women, which we had so nicely cultivated from the days of our criminal past. That is why every male restriction is now through the years of special criminal blames some woman for it of men when under orders, under discipline, being clothed, fed, nursed, amused and even their thinking done for them. They took to it like ducks to water. It was a new form, a funny story with a regimented and a remorseless disposition to fret under close discipline.

And during that same period women were not exactly expected to cling. I should say not. They were left at home to run things and to do all the work, leaving them so amazingly well in this country that we are now declared to be the most prosperous, etc., etc., and enjoying the most satisfactory return to normalcy.

And, of course, it is a return to "normalcy," to the "sob-sister" mentality that obtained in those far-off days of which Max Johnston writes in "The Wanderers," when women were top dog and man had not yet realized that he had anything to do with increased population.

It was when he discovered that he whined and clung and coaxed enough to corral the property into his hands—and he has been reading on property rights ever since.

A woman has proved that she can be somebody and win up through diverse handicaps without actually owning anything. But of course how much account is the male of the species when he doesn't own anything?

These days men are so strong for pardons—unless, of course, six of them can set upon one man. Then they are quite capable of hanging, burning, or cutting him up with sumptuous courage and glorious vicarious vengeance. But in a general way, if they are going to make a lone fight, they have to have a referee, seconds, wild shouting, water revivers and money, lots of money. It's a show, a sensational event, a remarkable occurrence that varies from time to time, when two of their number start out to hurt each other a bit, and take punishment gallantly.

On that basis every accouchement should be held in a van hall and women should pay lordly sums to witness it. But, of course, that would be very indecent. To be sure, making such a fuss about a little lambing or a birth must that most women get over quietly, practically alone, in a back bedroom—and are lucky if they see it recorded in the daily paper "The wife of . . . of a son."

Now all of this is not intended to belittle men. Far from it. I am sure that they can be sometimes fall, but as clinging vines they are adorable. Of course, we women are sorry if a man does not treat his wife properly, but oh, when a woman treats her husband kindly, our very souls are encumbered. Every gallant woman of us cries shame upon her. Fancy mistreating a poor human who has nothing in the world but "property"—and trousers to protect him from the flings and arrows of cut-throat fortune. It is hideous, unwomanly, heart-breaking. A wife is not all that is sympathetic, encouraging, protective, considerate to the spouse of her bosom. How can he do his work, how can he be clean, intelligent, healthy, reasonable, logical, magnificent if some woman is putting upon him at home.

Hygienic Feeding

The one can keep oneself alive very nicely on the following simple recommendations. It is also guaranteed to keep down the figure and to improve the complexion. The only trouble with it is that it eliminates all the pleasure of the table. It makes meal time a purely hygienic affair instead of a social and agreeable function.

The average man, therefore, rejects it with scorn. The average woman could and should adapt herself to it. Leading a less active life than the average man, she is more inclined to keep her going. The chances are that every day of her life she eats not only twice as much as she needs, but 50 per cent more than she really wants. She eats from habit, and because the food is put before her.

One of the handsomest women I know is forced to fight constantly to keep down over-weight. She is not an excessive eater, but she is a fat-maker. A diet normalize for another woman will add ten pounds to her present weight.

She manages this way.

Every other month she takes her meals at the family table, eating what the others eat, and gaining her ten pounds. The month between she goes on the sort of diet the French women advocate—but the only way she can follow it is to stay away from the family table. If she sees the food she breaks over her diet. If she eats alone and only the rigid diet prescribed is set before her, she eats, however, and contentedly, experiencing no sense of deprivation. And she loses her ten pounds a month or even more without the slightest difficulty.

TAKING OFF WEIGHT

Incidentally, and here is the important point, she keeps herself in superb health and her complexion is that of a radiant baby. For the benefit of women wishing to reduce the size of their bust, here is a typical day's menu:

Breakfast: One cup of tea with milk, not cream, and no sugar. The juice of an orange. One slice of whole wheat bread without butter. One boiled egg.

Lunch: Two lamb chops. One slice of whole wheat bread. One baked apple.

Dinner: One portion of roast chicken, string beans or green peas, lettuce salad sprinkled with lemon juice (no oil) half a grape fruit—or other fresh fruit, such as strawberries or melons, in season.

Strong meat, kidney beans, waffles and rice.

"I can feel the flesh fall off me on this diet," she said. "Yet I never feel hungry or nervously on edge as one usually does when one is dieting. I usually have the same thing day after day—varied by a few different kinds for it is not the sort of the one tiresome and the 'repeats' make it easier for my maid. I can lose twenty-five pounds in two months that way, if I want to keep up the diet that long, but I don't care.

Olive Oil Shampoo Gives Soft Lustre To Dull, Dry Hair

To be beautiful, your hair must have lustre. Dull, dry hair always detracts from the most charming face. Now specialists on hair beauty tell you to use a gentle shampoo of olive oil to have hair that is soft and glossy. They say that you must never wash your hair without olive oil. Do this and see new beauty come to dry, brittle hair. Get a bottle of PALMOLIVE SHAMPOO at any department or drug store. The most delightful of olive oil shampoo. Cleanses gently, and leaves the hair lovely, gleaming, soft and pliant as a baby's.

Women's Diet

A distinguished French woman has come to America. Sarah Bernhardt's diet during the last year of her life was close to the great actress that she ate almost nothing. She has a special each profession, and she also distinguishes between the men and the fitting diet for women.

In her first talk on the subject she addressed an audience of newspaper men, and a slight cloud was cast over her American visit by their reception of the diet she prescribed for them.

For example, the breakfast she recommends for the two-faced, hard-working men that composed this audience was a small cup of black coffee without milk or sugar and a slice of whole wheat bread spread with honey! Some of the men were shocked at the result, but the ladies did not escape until the lady had mentioned what she could have for luncheon—another slice of bread, a sandwich, and a plate of stewed fruit!

All of which, when one considers it respectfully, is much less than the cost of a meal at a restaurant.

In short, the diet is not difficult.

Other things to remember are:

1. Eat slowly.

2. Eat well.

Reader Friend has written for advice on making friends for okra, artichokes and mushrooms. She believes that there may be many other young housekeepers who have not yet "made friends" with these three vegetables and who would like to read something about them.

The taste for okra is a cultivated one. This vegetable is much used in French and Creole cooking, as well as by the Americans, Turks and Greeks. Most of us are familiar with it in chicken gumbo soup—but it is equally as delicious in any clear soup which has a tomato flavor. Okra should be used in pods. The pods should be crisp fresh. The United States Department of Agriculture publishes a Farmers' Bulletin, No. 3233, on "Culture and Uses of Okra," which anybody may have for the asking. It suggests the many recipes for using this vegetable.

Artichokes.—The Globe or French artichoke comes from California and is generally in market all winter. In buying artichokes, make sure that they have crisp outer leaves and few black bruised spots. It is defined to have a smooth, white skin and no brown spots. The artichokes should be firm and not too large. The leaves should be green and not yellowish.

House Parties

House parties have proved very popular among fraternities at the University of Southern California during the past week-end. Balboa was the scene of four parties at which Delta-Gamma, Pi Beta Phi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Gamma Sigma Alpha entertained.

Frosts were recorded for practically every month from 1912 to 1916 in the vicinity of Toronto, Canada.

Diet and Health

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

My Dear Followers:
When sending for material we offer to go on this three-day liquid diet. I would have myself locked in a room and only the liquid pushed in to me. In reality, you won't find it difficult if you really want to do it. And I don't doubt you do.

After three days the stomach will be contracted, "shrunk," and it will very gratefully accept the 300 grams of food which we prescribe for a reducing number. You will find you simply cannot eat so much as you did. No, at your age the skin won't wrinkle if you reduce gradually. After 45 there may be some wrinkles to show up, for nature intends to give some evidence of age. (To protect the young!)
I charge 4 cents extra for the course except the 4 cents in stamps which helps cover the cost of getting the information to you. However, don't get the idea because it is free that it is any the less valuable. If I were in private practice and were to charge you for the course advice in consultation it would cost you at least $5. I'm an expensive lady. However, I do not want to give the impression that I am laboring now for purely altruistic purposes. Your newspaper knows all about the expensive lady business, for they pay this piper.

"Dear Doctor:
I want to reduce but I lack will power. I'll admit. I do like good things to eat. I have been stout since first starting to now—15 years ago, and I now weigh the wonderful sum of 253 pounds. Just think of it!"

"I am 28 years old and am five feet five inches tall. I have had chronic stomach trouble since my baby was born. If there is any charge for the course please let me know."—M. H.

"Is it safe to skin wrinkles after reducing?"

"Two hundred and fifty-one pounds! And only twenty-six years old, and five feet five inches tall. About 110 pounds too much for you, Mrs. Troy. You are frank in admitting that you have no will power and that you do like to eat. If you have not already sent for the instructions on reducing, please do that right away. Keep us informed."

Your chronic stomach trouble will probably disappear when you get on a correct reducing diet. When you write for the article on reducing, send me my address. It Won't Be Any Easter Tomorrow, Inclosed. That has a little psychology that will help your will power. You will not have to use so much will power if you will only master up enough of it to go on the shrinking stomach regime—that is to go three days on a liquid diet.

If you take skim milk, count one glass 80 C.c., and you can have seven or eight glasses during the day. So you will not suffer from hunger. If you do not care for skim milk, then buttermilk or orange juice or other fruit juice can be used. One glass of orange juice is about 100 C.c. Grape juice about 200 C.c. Fat-free consume you can have nearly a quart of it for 100 C.c. You see, you have a variety of things to choose from. If I were in your state and felt

Remarkable Tonic Brings New Strength to Thousands of Weak and Ailing

Discovery of Lyko, the Great General Tonic, Gives Aid of Science to Run-Down People

As you walk along the crowd going along the street, how easy it is to see the difference in the people who make it up.

Some are well, strong, vigorous, full of the vim and energy that win in social and business life. Others are weak, emaciated, lacking in all that counts for power and success—mere nobodies in active affairs.

And yet most of these run-down people could quickly become well and strong if they would only help Nature to restore their bodies to a normal condition. What they need is an efficient general tonic and regulator. If they will do what thousands of other people once weak and lacking in energy—now strong and well—have done, they will use Lyko to get on their feet again.

It is simply amazing to read of the wonderful help Lyko has given to people who had become worn out in mind and body, many of them discouraged, hopeless of regaining their health and strength.

Mr. Johnson, a resident of Kansas City, was amazed at the way Lyko built up his run-down constitution. He says, "When I began taking Lyko I was thin and gaunt, weighed only 130 pounds, and felt a great lack of 'pep.' Now I weigh 147 pounds, am full of energy and never feel tired."

Lyko is a scientific preparation containing pure medicinal ingredients each of which has a beneficial action on some part of the system. It has a mild but effective laxative action which gets rid of constipation.

Lyko is sold by leading druggists. Ask your dealer for it.

H. Jenkins, of Chicago, is another to whom Lyko has means renewed strength and vigor. The following is from his letter: "My business keeps me closely confined to the office and at a desk all day long. As a result, my system became all clogged up. I was always tired, rested poorly at night and grew nervous and irritable. I began using Lyko and now I am in fine shape again, feel cheerful, and am able to do much more work without fatigue or nervous strain."

Mitchell Murray, of Missouri, sends a letter which says: "When I began to take Lyko I was so weak I could hardly walk across the room. Now I am able to do a pretty fair day's work, and my neighbors are amazed at the effect."

J. D. Miller of Chicago writes: "We have been using Lyko in our family and find it the best tonic for stomach and bowels we have ever used."

F. B. Barker of Florida is another who writes in praise of Lyko. "My wife's health was all run down and she has greatly improved since taking Lyko."

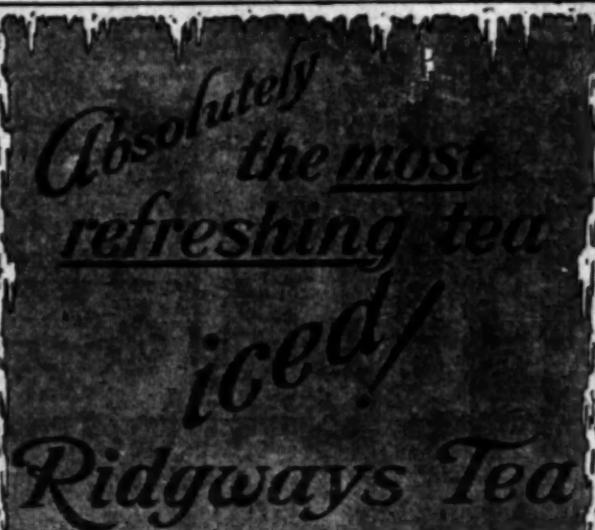

Lyko is sold by leading druggists. Ask your dealer for it.

BETTER HEALTH FOR WOMEN

Any woman who will stop and consider the result of a questionnaire recently sent out by the Lydia E. Pinkham's Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., will in all fairness admit the value of this old-fashioned root and herb medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Fifty thousand replies were received, and 98 out of every 100 women stated they had been benefited or restored to health by its use. This means better health for American women. It will surely pay any woman who suffers from any ailment or disease popular to her to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.—[Advertisement.]

WANTS TO BE FAT

FANNIE BRICE WOULD GIVE PRICE FOR RECIPE

By Grace Kingsley
Fannie Brice, one of the headliners at the Orpheum, has the unique distinction of being probably the only woman in the world who wants to get fat, outside, maybe, of one or two women in Turkey. While all her sisters are slender and panting and sunbathing and envying, she lives a life completely surrounded by chocolate malted milks and other luxuries. But, alas, fat and Fannie are not friends!

Between sips of her fifth malted milk and nibbles of chocolate eclairs yesterday Miss Brice told us her trouble.

"Say," said Fannie, "fat just looks at me, and says to itself, 'Keep off that woman!' Don't know why. It's not my disposition, I'm sure. I'm the most genial soul alive. Counter-attractions may take the best seat on the hill and the best drawing-room, and I'll just smile. Clerks in shops never forget to wait on me, and I make the original statue of patience look like a wild woman of Borneo. Even when somebody steps on my pet corn, I feel not the slightest inclination toward murder. So it isn't a bad temper that keeps me thin."

The worst of the whole thing is that everybody has a recipe for trying to fatten me up. I'm a victim of my friends. I eat chocolates and they simply give me a headache. I've been rich until I can't look like a Chinaman in the face. I drink warm milk and have the nightmare. I don't like sweets or starches, either. Oh, how my eyes brighten when it lights on a soufflé pickle! But they are out for thinness!"

"Once I rented a cow for a whole week, because somebody said new milk right from the animal was a sure fattener. And it took me three weeks to win back the pound I lost that week. The cow looked sick sorrowfully at me as though I'd led a hard life."

"I understand that the living skeleton in the Sels-Filo circus is jealous of me, and heaven knows, but he may send me a box of candy with fish-hooks in it!"

"Nobody loves a fat woman?"

"Don't you believe it. Men like 'em plump, but hard men in the audience the other night exclaimed in a stage whisper, 'My gawd, what are all the women so thin for?'"

But the cruelest blow of all was when I got a letter from my own little girl, the other day, and it read:

"Dear mother—a woman you know says to me, is your mama still a girl of one dimension? What does she mean, mama?"

Oh, and, by the way, Miss Brice is going to do a burlesque of "Camille" next week at the Orpheum, assisted by some of the other players on the bill.

"Well, anyhow," she sighed.

"I'll be thin enough."

Pauline Frederick's Plane

Pauline Frederick is spending a few weeks at her Beverly Hills home, but is shortly to leave for London. In London Miss Frederick is to make a number of screen appearances for the Sterling Productions according to word just received.

Herb Howe Takes Pen in Hand

Herb Howe, magazine and scenario writer, is coming West within a fortnight, according to a letter just received from him. "You may tell the popular press that I'll be with them in June," writes Herb. "I've just written an article for your paper, built about Charlie Ray's performance in 'The Girl I Loved.' When Ed Schallert reads it he'll suspect Charlie has sent me another cigar-ette case. On the contrary, I never planned the catch he gave me, which I lost in Italy. Charlie knocked me so cold in this picture that I blubbered until a policeman offered to take me home, thinking I'd lost mama."

"Ed wired me to write a story about eastern honeymooners. But I had to give up. I'd soon run out of paragraphs about couples of loving newlyweds than someone would rush in to say that the bride had a black eye and groom was on the way to the hospital. The Morons are all right. Mrs. Morenus must be great, but will the masses people help bring more Democratic and affable than the stellar high society to which we are accustomed. I'm proud of Tony, for, as you know, I practically raised him. And I plan to retire on him when the time comes."

Mrs. Wallace Reid Returns

Mrs. Wallace Reid has returned from San Francisco, where her anarcticopic picture, "Human Wreckage," had its premiere last Saturday night.

Notices were most favorable, and great crowds have been viewing the picture, which is a smash for a drama.

While in the northern city, Mrs. Reid addressed a number of women's clubs, met Admiral Eberle, who is taking a great interest in her picture, and other notables, and altogether was greatly encouraged in her work against the anti-social evil.

"It is from the club women that I feel we can expect the greatest aid in our fight against the dope evil," said Mrs. Reid yesterday.

Mrs. Reid is to take a train East when the picture goes back there for the purpose of making addresses wherever the feature is shown.

Hoot Gibson Ramagin'

When you see Hoot Gibson ramaging around in a rodeo in "The Ramblin' Kid" you may believe it is sincere rampaging, and you will be right. The big rodeo to be held at Preston, Ark., two weeks from now, will be blazed, with Hoot taking part in it.

Preston is the actual locale in the adaptation E. Richard Schayer has prepared of Earl Wayland Bowman's popular novel, and Preston will get full screen credit and its stars will gain special fame. A big outfit of players and technical workers will go to the Arizona city. Edward Sedgwick is the director of the production and Laddie Parker, Bert Welsh, Harold Goodwin, Carol Holloway, John Judd and other players have roles supporting Gibson.

Rawlinson Parks Fight Clothes

Herbert Rawlinson has done away with the garb of the tinselled gentry. The Universal star has thrown his ring togs into the ocean. He took them away out to sea and hopes that they are well.

Gleaming on the Silver Screen

In Attractions of the Hour

Betty Compson is starred in "The Woman With Four Faces" at Grauman's Metropolitan; Florence Vidor in "Alice Adams" to show next week at Loew's, and Fritz Ridgeway in "Trifling With Honor," coming to Clune's Broadway.

YOUTHFUL STORY

"Second Fiddle" Coming to Symphony Has Human Interest

If you want to renew your youth, or if you are young and want to see a realistic story of human life unfolded before your eyes, you will receive the full measure of your desires, it is said, in "Second Fiddle," a screen adaptation of Gerald Beaumont's story "Two Bells for Pegram." It was directed by Edward Laemmle. Others supporting Rawlinson in the cast are Dorothy Mann, Esther Ralston, Frank Currier, Otto Harlan and Tom McGuire.

MacGrath Story to Show Next at California

Harold MacGrath is the author of the new Distinctive Pictures production, "The Raged Edge," which is to have its first western showing Sunday at the California Theater. The locale of this story is the coast of China and some of the little-known islands near this land of mystery.

Mr. MacGrath is known as an indefatigable traveler. He jumps about from place to place as though he were stepping in a dream to go three blocks. In fact, it has been said that he commutes to America from India. Every once in a while he shows up at his home at Syracuse, N. Y., and before anyone knows he is back he has written a new novel and is on his way once more. His wife, Dorothy, and his children all make trips to make sure that someone doesn't sell him fake emeralds. He is very fond of green stones and particularly gullible when it comes to their purchase.

He says that the story of "The Raged Edge" was written from an actual experience in the South Seas.

Alfred Lunt, New York star, and Mimi Palmer, a dairied daughter of Italy, and brand new screen find, are the stars of this picture.

EIGHT NEW PLAYERS FOR DANGEROUS MAID

CONSTANCE TALMADGE WILL HAVE SUPPORT OF CELEBRITIES

Eight new players have been added to the cast of Constance Talmadge's forthcoming production, "The Dangerous Maid," according to an announcement made yesterday by Joseph M. Schenck, the producer.

They are Marjorie Daw, Charles Gerard, Tully Marshall, Kate Price, Arthur Rankin, Lou Morrison, Phillip Dunham and Kenneth Gibson. Two other players whose names have already been announced for the cast are "The Dangerous Maid," from Conway, Texas, and the male lead, and Willard Mack, who will enact the role of the villain.

Director Victor Heerman will shoot the first scenes on the new production next Monday at the United Studios.

WILLIAM WING ON UNIVERSAL STAFF

William E. Wing has been added to the Universal scenario staff. He has just completed the adaptations of "Overland Red," and "Ridgeway of Montana," and is now writing the continuity for William Desmond's picture, an original story by Raymond Schrock and Harvey Gates.

Mr. Wing has written 438 original stories, all of which have been produced, many of which have served as starring vehicles for some of the biggest stars of the screen.

PLAYDOM

TORRENCE AN ELEGANT

HARD-BOILED VILLAIN NOW SPORTS NEAT MUSTACHE

By Edwin Schallert
Ernest Torrence is a changed man. You'd hardly know him as the genial smooth-faced Scotchman that he was when he went away. Torrence came back yesterday. He is to start Monday in his new character picture in "Ruggles of Red Gap" for Famous Players-Lasky.

His transformation is the result of his having raised a mustache all his own. Too, his hair, which has been dyed and curled for the last few pictures he has played in, is now cropped close. He reared the new hairdo admiringly, and said goodbye to his long locks for the sake of the role he has in "Ruggles."

Of course, I believe he did have a mustache for "The Covered Wagon," but ever since he came out of that notable role he has been smooth-shaven, and very happy about it too. That's the way the majority of his friends know him.

Anita In Honor

It's all settled that Anita Stewart will play in "C. W." with Marceline and Mabel. Anita Stewart is now getting ready for the production after a three weeks' vacation on Long Island.

Just what she will do after that is uncertain, I believe, but there is some talk of her going to Europe, and for the moment the company which recently obtained the services of Betty Compson.

Corinne in Stay Home

Japan isn't to see Corinne Griffith this summer. The young lady was for a time thinking of going over to the cherry-blossom land to make her next picture, but, though the offer was alluring, she is now set to stay here, and if possible to get started on those features of her own, which she has long been planning.

United's Large List

Some studio heads are absolutely determined to keep the present activity in picture-making going right ahead all through the summer, and one of the most enthusiastic of these just at present seems to be M. C. Levee, president of United Artists. He and his contract have been signed for several companies and negotiations for five other producers are practically closed. There will not consequently be the usual let-up that comes toward the middle of the season.

The principal producing organizations now include those featuring or captained by Norma and Constance Talmadge, Maurice Tourneur, Sam Wood, Arthur Jacobs, Edwin Carewe, Joseph de Grasse, Frank Lloyd, Jack Dillon, Lynn Reynolds and John McDermott.

The improvements on the studio lot are about completed. These include the enlarging of administration offices and production facilities, and the bettering of roads and general appearance of the plant.

Bright Lights Done

Having completed his picture, "Bright Lights of Broadway," René Zeldmann is to return shortly to the Coast. The film was made from a story by Gerald C. Duffy, and was actioning up well done on the Gay White Way and Broadway. The principals are Lowell Sherman, Doris Kenyon, Harrison Ford, Edmund Breese, Effie Shannon, Charley Murray and Tyrone Power.

A GOOD ONE

Every week, Grauman's has written many stage successes, but he has the theater nothing else but "Fair and Warmer," his fame would be secure and sufficient. Now in its fifth week at the Morosco, "Fair and Warmer" continues to command the maximum of fun. The title sounds calm enough, but on the stage it is a tumultuous laugh storm.

REPEATS SUCCESS

Rockette Fellows, who created such an impression with his portraining of the spectacular hero in "Marshall Nalan's "The Golden Banquet," for Goldwyn, makes his appearance again as a feminine heart-breaker in the Universal Jewel, "Trifling With Honor," which opens at Clune's Broadway tomorrow.

SHEIK TO KEEP HIS CHILD WIFE

Mother of 12-Year-Old Bride Drops Annulment Suit

Forged Proof of Age Also Charged by Parent

Couple, However, May Face Perjury Accusation

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

UPPLAND, June 14.—A legal tangle by which the law threatened to tear little Irene Dean, a child wife, from the arms of her sheik husband, faded today when the girl's mother, Mrs. Mary Bane of the Cucamonga district, announced that she had dismissed her suit to annul the marriage.

It was with the filing of the suit two months ago that the story of the wedding last September of the girl, who her mother says is 12 years old, became known to Irene Dean, who learned the mother asserted that Dean had altered an affidavit of the girl's age and had sworn falsely to her age at the marriage license bureau.

Dean and the girl wife, a expectant mother, contended that it was Mrs. Bane herself who changed the affidavit and told Justice of the Peace Crane of this city that the girl was 17 years of age, so as to avoid a perjury trial on a perjury charge. The dismissal of the annulment will not interfere with the criminal prosecution, according to Dist.-Atty. Johnson.

Mrs. Dean was released from the county detention home in the week by Juvenile Judge Daley and returned to the home of her husband in Calipatria, where Dean is growing cotton. The girl had tried for days at the detention home previously to her release.

Judge Daley intimated today that Mrs. Bane, the mother, might face prosecution along with Dean on the perjury charge.

It was required for a dismissal of the annulment suit. Mrs. Bane gave no reason for her action. She was represented in the suit by Attorney A. W. Burt.

Osteopaths in Convention at Seaside Hotel

LONG BEACH JUNE 14.—The twenty-second annual convention of the California Osteopathic Association was opened at the Hotel Virginia here this morning at 10 o'clock with approximately 300 osteopaths from every section of the State attending as delegates. Permanent seats with franchises in Coast cities outside of California are among those present. The convention will continue until Saturday.

Major Buffum delivered the address of the convention to the visiting osteopaths. Dr. Harry W. Webster, president of the State organization, presided at the sessions. One of the principal speakers today was Dr. W. Vonderburg of San Francisco, who spoke on "The Sanatorium Patient."

A social program of entertainment has been provided for the visiting delegates by members of the Long Beach Osteopathic Society and golfing, swimming, automobile tours and boating will be interspersed with lectures on "Osteopathy," "Therapy of Hyperthyroid Islands," and other subjects.

A reception and dance formed the program at the Hotel Virginia ballroom this evening.

DEATH HELD NATURAL

Aged Woman Found in Bathtub Buried at Orange

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE

ORANGE, June 14.—Testimony presented at a Coroner's inquest over the body of Mrs. E. S. Chandler, 81 years of age, found three days after death in a bathtub in her apartment, resulted in a verdict of natural death caused by apoplexy. Several acquaintances of the woman testified that she was subject to heart attacks, and only recent stroke, severely affected. Mrs. Chandler, who is a widow, had been living alone in an apartment since coming from Santa Ana last September. She suffered the fatal attack Saturday night while preparing to retire. Her body, half submerged in water, was found yesterday.

Funeral services, attended by a small number of friends, were conducted at Fairhaven Cemetery today.

NAMELESS CUP IS AWARDED TO PUPIL

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE

SOUTH PASADENA, June 14.—The Nameless Cup, which has been awarded to Glen Lemcke, graduating this week from South Pasadena High School. The Nameless Cup is so called because it was sent to the high school by an unknown donor, to be given to the debator during the eighth debate.

Lemcke's claim to the cup was undisputed, as he gained a perfect score of 300 in a debate against Huntington Beach, the first time in local scholastic history such an achievement had ever been recorded.

ELMIA JAPANESE CONVICTED

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

FRESNO, June 14.—K. Fukuchi, Japanese, of Salina, today was found guilty of manslaughter in the slaying of S. Fukushima, a com-striker in the lumber mill house last Thanksgiving Day. The jury deliberated seventeen minutes. It was brought out in evidence that Fukuchi stabbed his victim in a fit of anger while the former was intoxicated. The defense tried to prove that Fukushima died of natural causes and not as a result of

LOSE NO TIME IN SHAKING DUST OF ALHAMBRA FROM THEIR FEET

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE

ALHAMBRA, June 14.—Ragged, unshaven and dirty, three men, arrested last night while asleep in an automobile, were brought before Judge H. S. Farrell today. They pleaded guilty to vagrancy.

"Thirty days in the County Jail," said the judge. Their faces fell.

"Sentences suspended," he added, and the trio started to file out.

"On condition," warned the judge, as they halted in the doorway, "that you leave town in thirty minutes and don't come back for thirty years."

They beat the deadline by twenty-four minutes and were heading east.

LONG BEACH READY FOR PARK VOTE

ELECTION TODAY TO DECIDE PROPOSED $900,000 BOND ISSUE FOR TRACT PURCHASE

BY A "TIMES" STAFF CORRESPONDENT

LONG BEACH, June 14.—Everything is set for what city officials and others have declared should prove the most popular special election ever conducted in Long Beach. Voters turn out tomorrow to decide whether the city should issue bonds for $900,000 for the purchase of Recreation Park. The property, consisting of 400 acres, is owned by the Alameda Land Company. It is to the east of Long Beach proper.

Plans of the City Council, in the event it is decided to purchase the property, include the building of an artificial lake to be connected with Alamitos Bay on the south with a channel. Still-water boating and bathing facilities and the construction of a boathouse and other improvements also are contemplated.

Lubitsch Splatters Tirade Against Rumors

Ends Contract With Firm Controlled by Lasky

Maybe Go to Choi many, Maybe Nod

"How could est wass?" was the comment of Ernest Lubitsch, motion-picture director, when informed yesterday afternoon of the report that he had broken his contract with the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation because he was unwilling to join the ranks of the "yes men" of the cinema.

"Who told you somethings like dis?" he questioned before disposing to the report. "Est ses nodd."

"Maybe I was neffer of the Famous Players-Lasky, yes? Maybe I go back to Choi many for a short treep but maybe I come back here soon to work for somebody else now," he declared as cool as a cucumber with his remarkable diabolical remarks about methods regarding American motion-picture making in general and that of the Lasky lot in particular. Prior to signing his denial Mr. Lubitsch was understood to be unalterably opposed to cinema dreams as screened on this side of the Atlantic.

PICTURES BIG SUCCESS

"Picture-making in does country is chuse like it is in Europe—ninety-five out of 100 pictures see what you call 'top.' The other five, what you call 'big success.' Maybe I make 'em. Maybe I do not. But, I do not them make for Lasky."

There is not a great deal of Herr Lubitsch between the top of his golf-stockings and the part in his sleek black hair. But what he has is a good deal. He is a great two-handed talker and although he has to call for reinforcements for his vocabulary, he can put his remarks over with but slight assistance from his secretary, a cultured German youth with a scholastic record on his face.

NOT ON PAY ROLL

From his auction on the Lasky lot, Jesse Lasky was able to put an entirely different complexion upon the asserted differences prevailing between his directorial staff and Herr Lubitsch.

Despite past announcements, it was revealed yesterday that Herr Lubitsch had been loaned to the Famous Players-Lasky pay roll, though it was stated some months ago he had been loaned to Mary Pickford for her making of "The Street Singer" by that organization.

"Mr. Lubitsch never has had a contract with the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation—only a contract with the Hamilton Theatrical Corporation, a subsidiary company partially owned by this corporation under which he—except he was to make pictures in Germany only," Mr. Lasky stated.

AS TO CONTRACT

"Mr. Lubitsch came to America because the Hamilton Theatrical Corporation loaned him to the Mary Pickford company for the production of one picture with Miss Pickford."

"In recent negotiations Mr. Lubitsch has taken the standposition that he is not under any obligation to make pictures for the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation in this country. On the other hand, this organization has stopped producing pictures in Europe. Mr. Lubitsch, therefore, wanted to be free from another engagement, came to us and in a perfectly friendly manner, it has been mutually agreed to terminate the contract under which Mr. Lubitsch was engaged by the Hamilton Corporation."

The contract to which Mr. Lubitsch referred was for two years ending December 31 of this year.

Herr Lubitsch, conceded to be one of the greatest cinema directors yet to appear, had easily secured the termination of his agreement without the payment of a penny.

While admitting that he intended to produce other American pictures and that he desired to direct some notable other than Polga Negri, Herr Lubitsch declined to make known what firms he has in the firm of his own.

"Since that blawsted magazine has printed that picture of me I've been given the raspberry incessantly. Its quite annoying."

COUPLES IN DIVORCES ADVISED TO SEE FILM

Motion pictures are now being used as a weapon against divorce by Judge Summerfield, who is now said to be ordering all couples who are considering divorce, or whose cases are pending, to make a visit to the screen play, "Divorce," in which Jane Novak is now appearing as star at the Grauman's Rialto Theater. Considerable interest is being aroused by this experiment, as its success, even on a small scale, will lead to the adoption of the plan by many other jurists.

TARKINGTON PRIZE NOVEL AT KINEMA

The picturization of Booth Tarkington's novel, "Alice Adams," which in 1922 won the Pulitzer prize, will be seen at the K. Nema Theater tomorrow. Florence Vidor enacts the rôle under the direction of Rowland V. Lee.

The leading male character role is portrayed by Claude Gillingwater, famous actor of the stage and screen, while Vernon Steel plays the principal part opposite Miss Vidor.

BRICK MEN TO MEET NEXT IN LOS ANGELES

The Common Brick Manufacturers Association of America will hold its annual convention in Los Angeles next February, according to a decision of the board of directors, meeting in Minneapolis yesterday. Frank C. Johnson, president of Cleveland, secretary and manager of the association, will be in Los Angeles soon to complete all necessary arrangements.

THE same sun that warms the hills and plains of far-away China shines down on the mixed geographical layout of Universal City. Shou Ben Chow, famous Chinese statesman, railroad builder and financier, stood there yesterday afternoon and smiled philosophically.

"I'm several thousand miles away from myself!" he told Priscilla Dean with a laugh. "Your motion pictures certainly are weird."

As the guest of Miss Dean and Jack Lawton, location manager of the picture, he was being shown the sets since, in his Chinese play, "Drifting." He was conducted to the film city by James B. Duffy, general passenger agent of the Santa Fe Railway.

Mr. Chow was among the first group of students sent to America in the seventies to receive an American education. He was graduated from the Phillips-Andover Academy and put in three years at Columbia, but was recalled there because he was getting "too modern."

Mr. Chow built the first big railroads of China, introduced baseball and organized finances and other "modern things." Today he is president of the Bank of East Asia, a director of the International Council and representative of the Chinese in dealing with the British concerning the treaty port. Incidentally he was a fine baseball and football player in this country and played a role in 1882 against the San Francisco club.

He highly praised the authenticity of architectural design in the sets of "Drifting" and opined that the Chinese story with Miss Dean's personality would go well in his own country.

DENNY SAYS BEAUTY IS OWNHarassed by Beautifier Advertisement Film Star Files Suit for $75,000 Against Manufacturers

Reginald Denny, Universal he-man from whose face a thousand matted mittens have rebounded in the course of his making reels and reels of fighting pictures, is in the slough of despond. Yesterday he sued a firm of facial-mud manufacturers for $75,000 damages because he was advertised, without his permission, as being a massage-addict, in a motion-picture magazine.

Last yesterday afternoon he was discovered in a cafe, across from the Universal lot, wearing a black eye and a look of melancholy in addition to a Hollywood hero's clothes, drowning his sorrow in glass after glass of sarsaparilla.

The contract to which Mr. Lubitsch referred was for two years ending December 31 of this year. Herr Lubitsch, conceded to be one of the greatest cinema directors yet to appear, had easily secured the termination of his agreement without the payment of a penny.

While admitting that he intended to produce other American pictures and that he desired to direct some notable other than Polga Negri, Herr Lubitsch declined to make known what firms he has in the firm of his own.

COUPLES IN DIVORCES ADVISED TO SEE FILM

"Here I've been doing fighting roles for months and now the silly rotters have me branded as a cake-eater. Its quite disgusting, what?"

"Once I've been come out of letters from chappies who use stuff for their faces. Fawny that! It's quite disgusting, what?"

"I can't stand it, I tell you. I can't stand it! Why this morning Rupert Julian passed me and he said, 'How's your face, Regie?'"

"He was going the other way so I said * and a lot of other blinking things that you can't print."

"And then this morning a blighter passed me. He was coming to the studio and he said, 'Boncilia' and gave me the raspberry."

"I can't stand it! The blighter must pay!"

ASSOCIATION TO SEEK TIMBER CONSERVATIONNEWLY INCORPORATED BODY PLANS CAMPAIGN TO AID FORESTS

To foster the conservation of timber and other natural resources of the United States, the American Forestry Association has been incorporated by George Barnes, Arthur Barnes, E. N. Martin, M. S. Mills and Earl Mills.

The association will publish literature and issue periodicals to expose the necessity of a thrifty policy with the country's forests and undeveloped water power.

Legislation such as the Shepard-Townley Water Power Act should be encouraged and encroachments on public reservations will be fought.

"The blighters probably use it themselves," says Denny.

It would not take more than a barber and a bucket of clay to turn a Universal he-man into a "skin you love to touch." Through it photographs as alabaster, yes, yesterday it was the hue of a boiled, live lobster—and the black eye did not help the ensemble any.

Denny has not much time now to be fearful lest he must begin using pomade for his pompadour and all the other weapons in the arsenal of present-day sheikas.

JOHN STEEL, TENOR, ARRIVES IN CITY

John Steel, tenor, arrived in Los Angeles at 2:35 p.m. yesterday over the Santa Fe to fulfill an engagement with the Grauman's Metropolitan Theater. The singer was met at the station by Bill Black, band and members of Grauman's Indian Village which is encamped near the city during the run of "The Covered Wagon."
